CARDINAL HEARS HIS DOOM

Gov't Seeks Extension Of Controls

Domestic Rents, Flour, Steel, Butter Among Those Asked

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said last night in the commons the government plans to ask for an extension of price ceilings on products now under control.

The ceilings now apply to flour, bread, butter, certain fresh and canned fruits and vegetables, molasses, sugar and some fruit juices. Ceilings also will be maintained on steel and certain types of timber.

RENT CONTINUES

Mr. Abbott said domestic rent controls will be continued for one year and the price board will be retained for a similar period.

He spoke on a resolution to a bill providing for the continuation of some sections of the Transitional Powers Act.

Provision would be made in the bill to turn over rent controls to any province which wished to assume responsibility for them. The ceiling was being kept on flour because a subsidy now is paid on flour used for making bread in Canada. Some of the ceilings were being continued because the products are in short supply.

Trade Minister Howe said that besides the steel and lumber controls he will ask for the extension of priorities controls.

The most necessary of the controls was the one on steel. Canadian production was greatly short of requirements and imports represented about 30 per cent of all the steel used. By controls it was possible to use Canada's production to full capacity.

PREVENT EXPORT

Some 28,000 tons of semi-finished steel was being moved every month from Algoma, Ont., and Sydney, N.S., to Hamilton, Ont., for finishing. Without controls this semi-finished steel might be exported.

Under the controls available scrap iron was divided among the steel plants. The supply of scrap now came largely from foreign markets. He estimated that removal of the steel controls would cut Canadian production by as much as 20 per cent.

He believed the industry welcomed the continuation of controls, because they provided a fair division of available supplies.

Mr. Howe said there still is a shortage of high-grade clear lumber in Canada. Canada would be stripped of the supply of such lumber if the controls were removed. The controls were being relaxed as opportunity permitted, and it might be possible to remove them completely before "many months."

Priorities controls operated almost exclusively in favor of low-cost housing projects. Without priorities such projects would have difficulty in obtaining necessary supplies. It might also be possible to remove these controls in a matter of months.

Hungarian Cardinal Given Life Sentence

HUNGARIAN POLITICS ALWAYS TRICKY JOB

BUDAPEST, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—On Feb. 8, 1925 —exactly 24 years ago—Matyas Rakoski, now vice-premier of Hungary, was sentenced to death in a Budapest courtroom.

His sentence later was commuted to life imprisonment, and ultimately he was freed.

The crime charged against him was that of being a Communist.

Today, in that same courtroom, Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The crime charged against him was that of treason to the Communist government of Hungary.

Death Penalty Is Still Possibility

By Edward M. Korry

BUDAPEST, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—In what may be his last public appearance, Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, was sentenced to life imprisonment today by a Hungarian People's Court on treason charges.

Only through "clemency", the five-man court which tried him said, did the first prince of the church to face civil charges in modern times, escape death on the gallows.

And the primate, pale and tense as he stood before the court, promptly placed his life in jeopardy again with the only word he spoke during the 90-minute court session in which he and six co-defendants were found guilty and sentenced to prison terms of three years to life.

That word was "yes", and Cardinal Mindszenty spoke it when Dr. Vilmos Olti, president of the court, asked if he wished to appeal.

APPEAL OF PROSECUTION

His appeal will go to the Supreme People's Tribunal, but that higher court also will have before it the appeal of the prosecution for a death sentence—and it has been known to increase the punishment decreed by lower courts.

Four of the Cardinal's co-defendants also appealed. Then all were returned to their cells.

They will not appear at the hearing of the appeals. All will serve their sentences—if they are not executed on appeal—in the so-called "convict prisons" which are the most severe of three grades of prisons in Hungary. But they will not do hard labor.

Thus Cardinal Mindszenty's life term, if enforced upon him, might well mean that he will not appear in public again.

ALL GUILTY

The courtroom, room 27 of the grim, grey, brick Peoples Court building, was hushed as Olti rattled off in clipped, machine gun fashion the verdicts and sentences against the primate and his six co-defendants, all of whom were found guilty and sentenced to pri-

Pope Grieved By Conviction Of Mindszenty

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—Pope Pius XII, reported "profoundly grieved" by the conviction and sentencing of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, said today that the foes of religion have adopted "poisonous methods of the most refined modern technique."

The Pope made his remark at an audience for a number of priests who have dedicated themselves to the assistance of poor churches.

NO DIRECT REFERENCE

He made no direct reference to the Mindszenty case, but he took the occasion to denounce what he called growing atheism.

"Long ago," he said, "the struggle of atheism against the faith got under way, but in our days the struggle has become even harder and the enemies of religion are equipped with poisonous methods of the most refined modern technique. . . .

"It is necessary to oppose atheism with profound and living faith."

DEEPLY MOVED

The Pope began his audiences an hour later than usual today. Authoritative Vatican sources said he was deeply moved by the life sentence against Cardinal Mindszenty.

Vatican sources said the Pope would take the first opportunity to make a statement on the trial. He is expected to do so on the occasion of some speech or broadcast.

New Hotel Will Be 'One of the Best'

Edmonton will have the world's "most modern" commercial hotel with ample store and office space for rent if plans are finalized for the $7,500,000 structure on 100 street.

This was the pledge given here today by tall, youthful-appearing John Hauser, president of Hilton Hotels (International) Corp. of New York, the corporation that will operate the proposed $7,500,000 hotel here.

Arriving by plane from New York today, Mr. Hauser told interviewers that office and store rental space is a primary consideration of the Hilton International Corp. in its Edmonton venture.

SHOULD HELP

"We have a mind to the crying need for office space by the many companies operating in the Edmonton oil fields," he said, adding: "We should be able to help out materially in relieving this shortage with our new hotel building."

The proposed 550-room hotel structure will employ about 500 persons. The hotel here marks first entry into Canada of the famed Hilton chain that operates 35 of the leading hotels in the USA and four outside the continental United States.

Already those behind the hotel venture have tentatively named it "The Edmonton Hilton."

"We have planned the Edmonton hotel very carefully," said Mr. Hauser. "We want to give the people the kind of hotel they want and we know that it must be the best. The Hilton Corporation keeps improving over the last structure with each new hotel it builds. Therefore

Tomorrow To Be Clear, Cold

There is no relief in sight from the cold snap which has gripped Edmonton and district.

This is the terse comment from the local forecaster as he predicted more snow this afternoon and "clear but very cold weather" for Wednesday.

Temperature will drop to 20 below tonight with a high for Wednesday forecast at 10 below. Lowest thermometer reading in the recent cold spell was recorded last night when mercury fell to 36 below.

Temperatures throughout the rest of the prairies and in the north were also very low this morning. At Prince Albert mercury dropped to 42 below, and at Lethbridge it hit 27 below.

To the north of Peace River readings as low as 44 below were reported, and further north at Snag, the thermometer read 45 below.

Power-Starved Coast Hopeful

VANCOUVER, Feb. 8.—(CP)—The weather is milder on the lower mainland today and the weather-man says it may rain.

A disturbance moving downeast from the Queen Charlottes has considerable precipitation remaining in it and intermittent rain or wet snow may fall. There has been no rain for 59 days.

Meanwhile, the power shortage has been dealt another blow. B.C. electric officials say the second 30,000-kilowatt unit at the Ruskin Bridge River development will not be in operation for at least seven or eight weeks.

Quebec Liberal Bastion Taken by Conservatives

NICOLET, Que., Feb. 8.—(CP)—The rural constituency of Nicolet-Yamaska, long a Liberal stronghold, was handed back to the Progressive Conservatives today by a man who wasn't born when his party was last successful in the St. Lawrence River riding.

In a close battle that brought out a heavy vote, Renaud Chapdelaine, 37-year-old Nicolet lawyer, won yesterday's federal by-election over Paul Trahan, Liberal, and Romulus Maniesa, a farmer who campaigned as an Independent-Liberal.

Mr. Chapdelaine had a plurality of only 296 in complete returns for the 103 polls announced by returning officer Charles Edouard Villeneuve.

The final figures: Chapdelaine, 8,295; Trahan, 7,999; Maneau, 432.

The by-election was caused by the death of Lucien Dubois, who won over Mr. Trahan as an Independent-Conservative in the general election of 1945. In that contest, Mr. Dubois polled 7,973 votes against Mr. Trahan's 6,658 for a plurality of 1,315. The third candidate, as in yesterday's voting, trailed far behind.

PCs NOW HAVE 68

Present standings in the house of commons is: Liberals 124; Progressive Conservatives 68; CCF 32; Social Credit 12; other 8.

The by-election was the first in Quebec involving the two major parties since Prime Minister St. Laurent took over the Liberal leadership and George Drew became federal leader of the Progressive Conservatives.

In six other by-elections the two parties met only once—in Digby-Annapolis-Kings—and the Progressive Conservatives gained that constituency from the Liberals.

In Ottawa, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said that the victory "offers the most convincing proof" that his party is "on the march in every part of Canada."

Prime Minister St. Laurent said: "The defeat is as disappointing as the recent victory in Laval-Two Mountains was encouraging.

"The significance of the two results is that, for the Liberal party, unity means success and division means defeat."

Chinese War Flares Up Again

NANKING, Feb. 8. — (AP) — China's dormant civil war flared into a fight fight on the Yangtze today.

Government patrol boats attacked a flotilla of Communist supply craft west of Wuhu, which is about 40 miles west of Nanking. Several Communist boats were sunk and 31 junks captured, along with a few Communist prisoners.

A naval spokesman denied the Communists were trying a crossing.

The action, first of importance in a month, came as peace hopes wilted.

Rescue Try Is Renewed

Two RCAF Dakotas today may attempt a landing at an old Hudson Bay post near Fort Rose in their efforts to establish communications with the plague-stricken Eskimo village of Cressell Bay.

The two craft took off in clear weather from Cambridge Bay today for the first time since last Friday. They were headed directly for Fort Ross.

Initial sweep over the area last Friday failed to gain any news. It was hoped they to contact L. A. Learmonth, meteorologist in the area, by radio, but this failed.

Word was received by the air force some time ago that the small Eskimo community was stricken with a mysterious disease and that nine of its inhabitants had died.

To date the air force has been unable to confirm this report.

DRIVE-IN THEATRE PLANNED FOR CITY

First drive-in theatre serving Edmonton and one of the first in western Canada will open early in May.

It will be on a 15-acre site just off the Jasper highway about six miles west of the city centre.

Operating as the Western Drive-In Theatres Limited, the company building the theatre is headed by Mervyn (Red) A. Dutton, Calgary, as president. Managing director is Frank H. Kershaw, Calgary, formerly district manager for Famous Players Canadian Corporation.

Accommodating 650 cars, the drive-in theatre will be built with a hard-surfaced sloping arena and 11 semi-circular ramps.

Screen will be the largest in Canada, showing pictures about 55 feet wide and 47 feet high.

To accommodate the screen a 75-foot high tower, 60 feet wide will be built.

Plans also call for the construction of a large building about midway in the auditorium area to accommodate a projection booth, rest rooms and 40-foot snack bar.

Patrons, who will remain in their cars during the showings, will also be provided with individual loud speakers, car heaters and baby-bottle warming service.

The same company will also build three drive-in theatres in the Calgary area.

General Taxing Urged For Transit Deficits

Deficit of the Edmonton Transit System should be made up through general taxation rather than through any proposed increase in fares.

The civics committee of the Federation of Community Leagues went on record unanimously favoring this policy following discussion of the transportation problem at their Monday night meeting.

PROBE IS HELD

Duncan Innis, chairman of the meeting, raised the question of increased transit fares following investigation of the matter by the league's transportation committee.

With the co-operation of D. B. Menzies, city commissioner, the committee found the proposed rise in fares based on increased costs of operating the system.

Much of the Transit System deficit is caused by service to outlying districts. Mr. Innis felt that this was the responsibility of the whole public.

Likewise, patrons of the transit system should not be made to pay for the damage to pavement caused by other heavy vehicles, said Mr. Innis. All citizens pay for the pavement, therefore all should pay for the Transit System.

Commissioner Menzies pointed out that the city received no revenue from other vehicles, especially heavy trucks, which use the streets and often damage them extensively.

D. C. Hancock, of the Central Community League expressed the view that further investigation should be made into other sources of revenue than increased transit fares.

J. Aitken of Forest Heights league suggested that Transit System costs be lowered by a revision of the city bus and street car routes into more evenly distributed service.

Narcotics Seized

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Seizure of a store of narcotics with an underworld sales value estimated at $2,500,000 was disclosed by police early today. Joseph Basile, 39, was arrested and charged with unlawful possession of narcotics, which police said were found in his apartment.

TO PROVIDE EDMONTON with one of the world's finest commercial hotels will be the aim of William "Bill" Irwin (left), and John Hauser, construction engineer and president, respectively, for Hilton Hotels Corp., New York. The Hilton Hotels chain officials are here with a U.S.-Canadian syndicate headed by John C. Boright of Montreal, which plans an early start on a 22-storey hotel building opposite the Edmonton court house.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 — (BUP) — Vicomte du Parc, Belgian ambassador to Canada, today presented his letter of credence to Viscount Alexander, Governor General of Canada.

West World Catholics Bitter Over Sentence

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Leaders throughout the non-Communist world bitterly denounced the life imprisonment sentence imposed upon Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty today by a People's Court of Communist-dominated Hungary.

Comment ranged from "a savage Communist attack on the Christian Church," to a "travesty of justice."

In many countries, bishops called on Roman Catholics for special prayers.

Pope Pius knelt in prayer in his private chapel at the Vatican City. Vatican sources said, after hearing the news "with most profound sorrow."

The Pope will take the first occasion to protest "in most definitive terms" Vatican informants reported.

In Germany, the Archbishop of Paderborn, Laurentius Jaeger, called for special prayers.

In Austria, Andrea Rohrbacher, Archbishop of Salzburg, said the sentence "is just what we expected. We will not give the Hungarian government the honor of our protest."

"TRAVESTY OF JUSTICE"

The Roman Catholic archbishop of Liverpool, Most Rev. Richard Downey, said "the travesty of justice has been played out to the end. Nothing is certain! The cardinal will never be allowed his liberty to tell what happened to him during the five weeks of his incommunicado before so-called trial."

The life sentence was "nothing less than a delayed death sentence," commented Frans Van Cauwelaert, president of the Belgian chamber of deputies.

In London L. W. B. Teeling, Conservative member of parliament, served notice that he will ask cabinet member Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, to consider breaking off negotiations for a trade treaty with Hungary.

In Toronto James Cardinal McGuigan today denounced as an "inhuman episode" the trial and life-sentence in Hungary of Cardinal Mindszenty.

"The sentence passed on Cardinal Mindszenty following the mock trial of Budapest, though not unexpected, will nevertheless shock the civilized world," the Canadian Roman Catholic Archbishop of Toronto said in a statement.

FISHERMAN? NO, THIEF

SANTA MONICA, Calif. Feb. 8.—(AP)—Fishing here has been good the last few nights.

Police reported a "sportsman" with an eight-foot fish pole snagged $200 worth of neckties and socks through the letter slot in the door of a men's shop.

The night before, he got a good string of neckties in like manner from a cleaning and dying establishment.

So far the big ones—suits and overcoats—have got away. Letter slots are too narrow.

Russo-British Grain Talks End In Failure

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Britain has abandoned efforts to buy 750,000 tons of grain from Russia for delivery in the next 12 months.

A Board of Trade spokesman said today the grain will be bought from Canada, Argentina and the United States instead.

Russia delivered 750,000 tons of grain to Britain in the 12 months ended in December. In return she received heavy machinery, rails and other capital goods.

During the talks on a new contract Russia insisted, the Board spokesman said, on penalties for late deliveries by British manufacturers. That was unacceptable to Britain, so the talks ended.

Hungarian Prelate Is Sentenced to Life

son terms ranging from three years to life.

Four of his co-defendants joined the Cardinal in appealing. But the prosecution also appealed by renewing its demand for a death sentence for the Primate and higher sentences for the others. In the past there have been some cases in which the supreme tribunal has increased sentences assessed by the lower court.

Uniformed guards with tommyguns patrolled the fog-shrouded streets outside and paced the corridors. Security police not in uniform swarmed in the courtroom. Five and six checks were made on the credentials of all who were admitted.

OLTI MAKES PLAIN

Olti made plain, in explaining the sentence of the Primate, that Cardinal Mindszenty had escaped a death sentence, which the prosecution had demanded, only because "extenuating circumstances" were found in his case. He said the court invoked a paragraph of the Hungarian Judicial Code permitting it to reduce the sentence by one degree.

The court also deprived the Cardinal of his civil rights for 10 years and ordered all his property confiscated.

Explaining the reasons for the "clemency" given the primate, Olti said that one factor in it was the testimony that United States minister Selden Chapin had "encouraged" the primate in his attempts to overthrow the Hungarian government.

The presiding judge also took notice of foreign reaction to the trial, asserting that "the Imperialistic foreign press and domestic reactionaries tried to picture the trial as an attack against the church and the religious life."

NO CONNECTION

"The trial, carried out in the presence of the world press, undoubtedly showed there was clearly no connection between Mindszenty's priestly functions and his criminal acts, and that his priestly functions were not made the subject of criminal charges," Olti said.

"Royalist organization, espionage and black marketing have nothing to do with religion. Mindszenty for years used his high clerical post to lead open or disguised attacks against the regime, in order to cause difficulties for the people's Democracies.

"The court left these facts out of consideration. None of the defendents spoke about persecution of religion in the course of the trial."

Olti said that the Cardinal had wished to pit the Church and the Republic against each other "in order to weaken democracy." He said the Primate knew the royalist movement was not strong, and therefore had wanted to turn the Catholic masses against the regime and then use them to restore the Hapsburg monarchy.

He said that, although Cardinal Mindszenty's "clerical position" strengthened his political movement:

NOT AS PRELATE

"The court in its verdict did not judge Mindszenty as a cardinal, but as Joseph Mindszenty, Hungarian citizen."

Vatican and other sources have pointed repeatedly to a letter written by Cardinal Mindszenty before his arrest last Dec. 26, in which he said that any "confession" he might make would be "forged or false" and the result of "human frailty." The Primate publicly retracted this letter at his trial.)

Referring to Chapin's alleged connection with the Primate, Olti said the American minister encouraged the Cardinal to continue his fight against nationalization of church schools, and that Chapin asked him for "complete data" on Hungarian political parties, including the Communist party, on Soviet troops in Hungary, and on the extent of Hungarian mobilization.

ASKED U.S. AID

Olti said also that the Cardinal asked Chapin to take steps with the United States government to "push the Hungarian Jews out of public life and to facilitate the emigration of Hungarian Jews."

"The Americans support the reactionary elements all over the world in order to suppress democratic power," Olti charged, adding that Cardinal Mindszenty's alleged plot to restore the Hapsburg monarchy in Hungary "fitted into the aims of the Anglo-American imperialists."

He said this meant that the primate's movement was of great importance and meant "serious danger" to the Peoples Democracy in Hungary.

"Mr. Chapin has a great part in the fact that Mindszenty's anti-democratic activities were strengthened lately," he said. "By his attitude, Chapin gave Mindszenty hope that America would interfere in the near future."

SCORNS PRAYER

Referring scornfully to the Cardinal's dramatic prayer—"God give peace in these times"—uttered in the closing moments of the trial, Olti said:

"While praying for peace, Mindszenty speculated on war, which in case of an American victory would have ended with the overthrow of the Hungarian Peoples Democracy."

The judge also referred, in mentioning extenuating circumstances, to the Cardinal's "true confession and regret," his present attitude of desiring "peace" between the Catholic Church and the Hungarian State, and his "loving, unrealistic, ecclesiastical life."

Cardinal Mindszenty was found guilty specifically on six counts, two charging treason, three charging illegal speculation, and one charging smuggling foreign currency abroad.

Olti did not mention "hard labor" in assessing the life imprisonment sentence, and it was presumed that this was not included. Under Hungarian law, a prison sentence can specify "hard labor" or omit it.

The sentences of the cardinal's co-defendants ranged from the three years for Niklos Nagy, secretary of the Catholic Action Group, to the life sentence imposed on the Rev. Bela Ispansky, a priest. Prince Paul Esterhazy, once Hungary's wealthiest landowner, was given 15 years. His wife, once the most beautiful and famous ballerina of Hungary, wept quietly in the gallery, and the Prince covered his face with his hands as he heard his fate.

TOO MILD

After Olti had read in order the seven verdicts of guilty, the seven sentences, and the seven "justifications" of explanations of the sentences, prosecutor Gyula Alapi protested that the Cardinal's sentence was too mild and asked the death penalty.

This appeared to be routine procedure. The court hardly acknowledged it. Then the prosecutor demanded stiffer sentences for each of the seven in turn. Again the judges appeared merely bored by routine. They sat almost unnoticing, their faces stern. All wore plain dark business suits.

Then the defence lawyers, in their turn, asked milder sentences, and announced that they wished to appeal to the Supreme People's Tribunal.

ONLY WARDS

Olti asked each defendant whether he approved the appeal plan. It was then that Cardinal Mindszenty spoke his only word of the session.

Nagy, Ispanky, and Dr. Justin Baranyai, university professor who originally was charged with leading a plot to overthrow the government but was found guilty of being an accomplice, said they also wished to appeal.

Then Rev. Andras Zakar, young priest who was the Cardinal's secretary, and Esterhazy said they would accept their sentences.

Then there was played a grim comedy bit, which only Olti in the whole quiet courtroom seemed to find humorous.

OLTI SHOUTS

The seventh defendant, aging journalist Laszlo Toth, who was found guilty of espionage, is deaf. He had not heard a word as the verdicts and sentences were read. Once he had sought to interrupt and had been restrained by a uniformed guard.

Now it was necessary for him to answer whether he wished to appeal.

Again and again Olti repeated his question. Finally, smiling broadly, he shouted it directly into Toth's inefficient artificial hearing aid.

Church Property Won't Be Touched

BUDAPEST, Feb. 8.—(Reuters)—Church property owned by Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty as archbishop of Esztergom and Primate of Hungary will not be touched by the state following his sentence to life imprisonment today, a spokesman of the Hungarian Ministry of Justice said.

The sentence passed by the special People's Court confiscated the cardinal's private property.

The ministry spokesman said that as the cardinal owned no personal property the part of the sentence referring to "confiscation of all private property" was purely formal.

The cardinal owned property, not personally but only in his capacity of Archbishop and Prime and such property would not be touched.

Hotel Will Be 'One Of Best'

Edmonton is certain to have the finest modern hotel in the world of like size.

It will be built on a strictly commercial basis as distinguished from the swank resort type of hotel. We will not have to charge fancy prices and we will emphasize good service and good food," he said.

Hilton Construction Engineer W. Irwin estimated it will require up to two years to complete the planned 22-storey building at 100 street and 102A avenue.

Monday, financier John C. Boright of Montreal said it was hoped to start the building within six weeks.

Financing of the hotel is "all assured," Mr. Boright said today.

A few of the world-famed hotels operated by Hilton Corp. in the United States are: Plaza and Roosevelt in New York City; Stevens and Palmer House, Chicago; Mayflower, Washington, D.C.; Town House, Los Angeles; Hilton Albuquerque, Albuquerque, N.M.; Hilton Hotel, El Paso, Texas; Hilton Hotel, Lubbock, Texas and the Biltmore, Dayton, Ohio.

DOWN SOUTH

Hilton International Corp., is just completing a new hotel in San Juan, Puerto Rico and operates three hotels in Bermuda. There is also a Hilton Hotel in San Paulo, Brazil.

Edmonton has been selected for the first Hilton Canadian venture because it is the centre of an expanding community, Mr. Hauser concluded.

LONE TUNDRA

North Pole Could Be Hitching Post

REGINA, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Canada's north country may replace the west as a locale for the hard-riding cowboy.

Harold Hargrave of the Swift Current, Sask., dominion experimental farm, yesterday pictured herds of livestock roaming over millions of acres of tundra and grassland in the far north.

He said in a speech here that special breeds of livestock already are being developed with this purpose in mind.

Better strains of domestic reindeer were being developed by the experimental station to provide good fat fur and hides for the northland people.

At Wainwright, Alta., cattalo—a cross of cattle and buffalo—were being raised successfully. The cattalo has meat qualities of cattle and the hardy characteristics of buffalo.

Newfoundland's Union With Canada Certain

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Legislation providing for Newfoundland's union with Canada appeared today to be assured of a safe and comparatively easy passage through the commons.

Although there may be some arguments on details of the terms of union, leaders of the major parties in the Commons made it clear yesterday that they approve of the island's entry into confederation as a 10th province.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, initiating a debate on a resolution to the union bill, said confederation with Newfoundland had been made "inevitable", both by geographic and by historic developments. He hoped the house would demonstrate that confederation was desirable "as a lesson to the whole world on what can be accomplished by men of good-will."

DREW WELCOME

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said:

"Speaking on behalf of all members of the Progressive Conservative Party in this house I wish to welcome the introduction of such measures as will complete this union upon terms satisfactory to the people of Newfoundland and to the people of Canada. . . ."

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said his party joined in welcoming Newfoundland to Confederation. Newfoundland's natural wealth and the sterling quality of her people would make her doubly welcome.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said he supported the principle of the government's confederation resolution "without any qualification." Both Canada and Newfoundland were bound to gain much from the union.

Other speakers in the debate which will be continued today included Defence Minister Claxton, A. M. Nicholson (CCF-Mackenzie), G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton) and Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South).

SECOND READING

When the debate resumes, the bill will be up for second reading, or adoption in principle. It was given first reading after Mr. Gillis concluded his speech.

Also given first reading was a bill amending various federal statutes to make them applicable to Newfoundland after union, now scheduled to take place March 31.

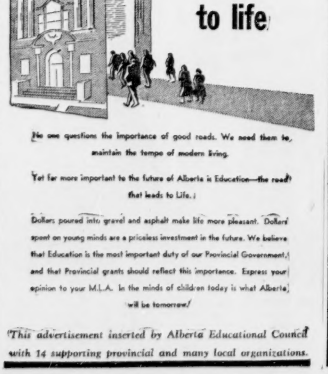
This road leads to pleasure . . .



No one questions the importance of good roads. We need them to maintain the tempo of modern living.

Yet far more important to the future of Alberta is Education—the road that leads to Life.

Dollars poured into gravel and asphalt make life more pleasant. Dollars spent on young minds are a priceless investment in the future. We believe that Education is the most important duty of our Provincial Government, and that Provincial grants should reflect this importance. Express your opinion to your M.L.A. R. A. ACTON . . . Ready to retire.

50-Year-Service Pass Is Given to Engineer

Half century of service means a little bungalow, a leisurely life and the only 50 years' service pass in Western Canada to R. A. Acton, 10990 125 street, veteran CNR engineer.

The railroad pass was presented to Mr. Acton Monday by A. T. Gray, roundhouse foreman.

CALL BOY FIRST

Nearly 51 years ago Mr. Acton did his first day's work as 13-year-old call boy. Promotions followed to car checker, switchman, fireman to locomotive engineer in 1909. Engineer on the transcontinental line from Edmonton to Edson, Mr. Acton boasts an accident-free service record.

Born in Belleville, Ont.—"a beautiful town"—64 years ago, he first worked with the old Grand Trunk Railway from Rivers to Prince Rupert. He settled permanently in Edmonton with his bride in 1917.

READY TO RETIRE

Today, grey-haired and smiling, Mr. Acton is "ready to quit." Time for sports, his "favorite hobby," enhances the prospect of early retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. Acton's still indefinite plans include long awaited visits to their two sons, Dr. A. C. Acton of Provost and John R. Acton, San Jose, California.

"Boys are in the family," smiled Mrs. Acton as she told about her four grandsons.

Upon retirement, Mr. Acton's 50-year pass will be exchanged for a completely unrestricted CNR lifetime pass.

HERMAN LEAVES MINUS HIS PET

Frank Herman, well-known radio entertainer, who leaves Edmonton Tuesday to manage a theatre in California, must leave without his dog.

Loss of the dog was reported to police Monday afternoon by Mr. Herman, who requested that anyone finding the dog contact Mrs. M. McCool, in the lamp department at Woodward's

The dog is a pure bred collie, tan and white, nine months old, and he answers to Bo.

Engineer Officer Is Going North

Leaving Edmonton today for Whitehorse is Col. H. W. Love, Ottawa officer commanding the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Col. Love, on an inspection tour of RCE establishments in Western Canada, visited the winter training camp at Wainwright over the week-end, where he reviewed the type of training being done in "winter indoctrinate" reserve and permanent force troops.

After his inspection at Whitehorse he plans to fly to Vancouver.

WINTERBURN'S POWER SYSTEM IS OPENED

Electrical power officially came to the rural district of Winterburn at a ceremony in the Community Hall Monday evening.

Marking the end of an era, a gaily bedecked oil lantern was put up for Chinese auction and finally presented to F. T. Gale, representative of the Calgary Power Company at the meeting.

Organized as a co-operative power distributing company, the work of organizing the unit was begun three years ago and now serves eighty rural members and a number of commercial and domestic users.

Electrical power for the electrification system is supplied under contract by the Calgary Power Company.

Among the speakers who brought greetings to the meeting were F. T. Gale, Calgary Power Company; Carl Stimpfle, Farmers Union of Alberta; N. D. Stewart, Alberta Wheat Pool; S. W Sheppard, Alberta Livestock Co-operative; F. J. Fitzpatrick, Supervisor Co-op Activities; J. M. Hughes, Northern Alberta Dairy Pool; A. M. Smith, Alberta Seed Growers; C. C. Gant, Co-op Life Insurance, R. C. Dahl, Canadian Co-op Implements, and Roy C. Marler, Alberta Federation of Agriculture.

Smoke Eliminator Is Suggested

New patented combustion aid has been suggested to city officials as a device for eliminating smoke, fly ash and cinders from power plant which have been bothering Rossdale community residents.

The new device will cost well under the $70,000 expected by the city and will bring saving of five cents on every 1,000 lbs. of steam, it was learned at the Federation of Community Leagues meeting, Monday.

Television Here Within 10 Years Kiwanians Told

Edmonton should have television facilities "within eight to ten years," Gerry Gaetz, manager of CJCA, told a Kiwanis meeting at the Macdonald hotel here Monday.

He said changes in the Radio Act would facilitate television progress in Canada, and endorsed the Canadian government's decision to set up a royal commission to investigate the television question in Canada.

Control of radio and television by a board of public commissioners rather than the present system of control by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was recommended.

The Kiwanis club welcomed two new members at the meeting, J. W. Burroughs and H. W. Hewitt.

City Still Feels 1913 Boom Effects

Widespread Development Bringing Headache Now

By Lloyd Jenkins

Edmonton has never quite recovered from the burst bubble of the 1913 land boom.

It probably accounts for much of the phlegmatic attitude to the oil boom of today.

The city now spreads over 42½ square miles, at one time being up to 45 miles. The city engineering department estimates it has to take services twice as far for per capita population as the average Canadian city.

This is mainly the result of the 1913 boom and the single tax administration of the day. It suited both settlers and the city to spread out over the flat countryside.

MANY BLANK SPOTS

But it did entail a future headache of bringing utilities to the city population. Now the city plans to concentrate on filling in population on sparsely-settled or blank spots for which some services have already been provided.

Explaining that "people around these parts are conservative any way", a number of persons pointed out to me the experience of Calgary. While that city had oil on its doorstep for 20 years, it was a war, rather than oil, which first brought its population over 100,000. Now Calgary's "boom" is dying out, they said. The same thing could occur to Edmonton—they said.

On the other hand, Turner Valley was the only major field for Calgary—and for the province. The dissipation of natural gases, 75 per cent of the oil is estimated to be still underground. The same mistake will not be made again.

LONG SEARCH NEEDED

A symposium of North American geologists about a quarter of a century ago made a map of probable oil resources of the continent. It shows Alberta completely covered with the exception of the southwest corner.

While it was suspected that large oil resources were in Alberta, one company alone (Imperial) spent 28 years, dug more than 122 miles in the ground and spent $150,000,000 before the Leduc and Redwater finds.

Redwater has been described by the Department of Lands and Mines as "the greatest single oil discovery in the world in 1948." Certainly Leduc and Redwater have radically changed the picture because they have led to the anticipation that Alberta oil will now develop by a succession of fields.

John Harvey, deputy minister of the department, stated that from information given him over the years by geologists who had proven right in other predictions, he was convinced that the major oil fields were yet to be found north of the Athabasca river.

REDWATER SEEN BEST

In its second year of production, Leduc already rivals Turner Valley. Because of the nature of Redwater oil resources, the Lands and Mines Department says no secret that it expects Redwater to far exceed Leduc.

Calgary and Edmonton development, therefore, should not present a parallel.

To the none-too-subtle question what oil meant to Alberta, Mr. Harvey replied that it "had turned the economy of the province upside-down."

For Alberta it became economically possible to be the only province in Canada to follow "a pay as you go" policy of government financing. The economic benefits to the people, in all its phases, were inestimable.

The provincial government actually suffers from an embarrassment of riches. Accumulated surpluses amount to $49,000,000. While this year the government budgeted for a deficit, hugh oil revenues being higher than expected, it will likely have a surplus.

ANOTHER FEB. 15

Sale of lands has already brought in $3,114,441, while over another million dollars will be added by a sale Feb. 15. Estimated petroleum and natural gas royalties were $950,000, but considerably more is expected to be collected.

No one could accurately assess the total millions upon millions of dollars which oil has brought to this province directly or indirectly. Dovetailing of new industry, capital and general business makes it impossible to trace in all its ramifications.

Graham Curtis, Edmonton industrial commissioner, has provided some interesting figures. He estimates that the oil industry has added $12,000,000 to the city's payrolls, created 3,000 jobs, brought 50 new businesses to the city, and resulted in construction work valued at $2,000,000.

For Edmonton the upsweep of the boom is just becoming evident. Increases in every line of activity are being reported daily. Progress of 1948 over 1947 was marked, whereas far greater increases are anticipated, and far more activity planned, for 1949.

26 CENTS POUND CHEAPER

Margarine Commended By City's Housewives

Margarine is all right. That's the verdict of many Edmonton housewives who yesterday bought their first supplies of the product. While majority of Edmontonians have yet to taste the butter substitute, those who have, find it "not so bad." To those who expected it to be exactly like butter, only 21-26 cents cheaper, it was a disappointment.

"I guess it will be all right for cooking, but I didn't like it on bread," said Mrs. W. T. Galliver, of 11122 69 street. I'll stick to butter in future, although this margarine will help out with the baking."

Miss Bunny Anderson of 12313 90 street said: "My mother thinks it's too salty, but we shall use it for cooking."

"It was all right in sandwiches" was another comment.

Miss Margaret Townsend of 10420 147 street, couldn't tell the difference between it and butter. "I liked the margarine, and of course, it's so much cheaper."

While housewives were sampling their first pound, the speakers' bureau of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was last night conducting a debate on whether manufacture and sale of the food product should be banned in Alberta. Majority decision was in favor of prohibition.

Speaking in support of a provincial ban, Doug Shaw said that sale of margarine would make great inroads into the incomes of agriculturists and urban dwellers.

He continued. "Claims have been made that the ingredients of margarine can be grown in the province, but raw materials would have to be imported." Butter supplies in Alberta, he said are ample for the consumption of Albertans, and loss of revenue to the farmer would be terrific if margarine is sold here.

Backing the manufacture of margarine, Roy Oldberg denied that such sales would put the farmer out of business.

It would, he said, bring a new industry into being, leaving more Alberta butter for export into the United States. This would mean an improvement in the dollar situation. And apart from that, the ordinary man-in-the-street would benefit by the sale of margarine, it was contended.

All stores reported excellent sales. "We sold out all the margarine we put on the shelves," said the manager of one grocetria. "Trade was very busy," added another.

Management On Scientific Basis Outlined

Understanding and correct interpretation of human relationships is the most important factor in industry today.

That is the opinion of Dr. J. C. Stevens, consulting management engineer of Vancouver, who last night addressed more than 60 members of the Personnel Association of Edmonton.

GOOD PRECIPLES

Speaking at a dinner in the Corona hotel, Dr. Hewson, former Edmonton teacher and school inspector, outlined the principles of sound scientific management and the application of these principles to the degree necessary in specific situations.

He said personnel administration is an essential feature of all large industrial plants.

During the war years the need for such administration became obvious and many companies organized personnel departments.

"Liking people" is not sufficient recommendation for work in a personnel department, he said.

Qualifications must include freedom from bias, emotional stability, analytical ability, capacity for understanding and the qualities of leadership.

JOIN U.S. ASSOCIATION

Presiding at the dinner, A. A. Aldridge, supervisor of Guidance for the Department of Education, announced that the association had joined the American Management Association.

Reports from various committees of the association showed continued progress in most fields of investigation.

Next meeting will be held on March 7.

Parade Tonight

The 20th Heavy AA Regiment will parade tonight at 8 p.m. at the Prince of Wales Armory.

Battle dress will be worn.

Four Cities Seek Changes In Charters

Amendments to the charters of four Alberta cities will be sought from the Alberta legislature during the session opening Feb. 17.

Applications for the amendments are among 14 private bills submitted for presentation up to today.

Monday was given as the deadline for submitting the bills, but R. A. Andison, clerk of the assembly said applications might still be received if they were dated prior to that day.

UNIFORM CHARTER

This may be the last time Alberta cities will seek charter amendments if government plans for a uniform city charter for the entire province are successful.

It had been hoped a uniform city charter might be submitted to this session of the legislature, but all cities have not yet been consulted on the provisions such a charter should contain.

Three other private bills deal with incorporation of insurance companies. They are Windsor Insurance Co., North Land Fire Insurance Co., and Alberta Life and Accident Insurance Co.

Permission to export Alberta gas is being sought in another private bill from Pacific Petroleums Ltd.

SEEKS INCORPORATION

Red Deer Agricultural society is also seeking incorporation. Articles of incorporation will include permission for the society to run parimutuels at exhibitions in the city of Red Deer.

Other private bills seek incorporation for the United Farmers of Alberta co-operatives, the Diocese of St. Paul and the Institute of Accredited Public Accountants of Alberta.

OLDS DECISION

Test-Tube Cattle Plans Are Dropped

Test-tube babies in the live stock world are not practicable in Alberta.

This was the decision of the provincial government and the Olds Co-operative Livestock club who have been experimenting since 1944 in the use of artificial insemination for cattle.

Hon. David Ure, minister of agriculture announced today the club would discontinue its activities along those lines.

"It has been proven that due largely to the relatively sparse population of livestock and high cost of operation that such clubs cannot be expected to operate on a self-sustaining basis," Mr. Ure said.

He suggested Alberta farmers should establish their breeding program by the use of superior quality bulls.

Higher Fares No Cure

The volume of public indignation that has been aroused over Norman D. Wilson's proposal that Edmonton's transit fares be raised to a basic rate of 8 1/3 cents indicates that the suggestion will provide no cure for this city's transit deficits.

When Mr. Wilson's survey was first announced, there was a general feeling that the traffic expert was being brought to Edmonton to find means of effecting operational economies that would cover the deficits.

But it is apparent that Mr. Wilson, through what prompting no one can say, arrived with a preconceived notion that fares must be raised.

Certainly the precipitate action of the city commissioners in most improperly presenting a proposal for an increase just a few days before he got here would tend to confirm his belief that Edmonton was determined to raise the fares in any event and no matter what his findings might be.

This strange combination of circumstances definitely minimizes the value of the survey. For of what use was it for Mr. Wilson to suggest operational economies if the commissioners were already determined to boost the fares?

Surveys are of no use whatsoever if civic officials supply both the questions and the answers.

It seems to be more than clear now that the increased fare will not guarantee a disappearance of deficits for the simple reason that fewer people will use the system if higher fares are charged.

The first aim of any city transit system should be to supply adequate service. Transportation experience everyhere is that the better the service the greater are the revenues.

Mr. Wilson should know that very well since Toronto, his home town, is the classic example of it.

To proceed, therefore, on the assumption that to carry fewer people at a higher rate rather than to carry more people at a lower rate is the solution of Edmonton's transit difficulties is to pervert all transportation experience.

It is subordinating revenue to service and it will not work.

For instance, under the new proposed fare of 8 1/3 cents, it will cost a quarter to ride a bus or street car after midnight.

How can that service begin to compete with a taxicab service carrying two people at a minimum rate of 50 cents?

The proposal for higher fares is preposterous and intolerable and it will cure nothing.

The city should ask Mr. Wilson to try again, without dictating his conclusions by inference.

Truman and Stalin Should Each Move Half Way to Meet

PHILPOTT

Is big business in the U.S. afraid of peace and loss of armament orders?

Or is Stalin stalling in making such strenuous attempts to arrange a peace meeting with Truman?

We shall never know unless the peace meeting takes place.

But if the peace meeting does not take place, the people of the whole world may well mourn Franklin Roosevelt.

Can anyone imagine the great Roosevelt being so small as to make the whole outcome of "peace in our time" hang on whether or not the other fellow came all the way to him?

Let Stalin and Truman each go half way.

That's what they will have to do anyway in the political sense.

It might help put both of them in the right frame of mind if they agreed to meet half way between their seats of power.

What's wrong with London, Paris—or, better still, a spot on the so-called "Iron Curtain?"

That's where U.S. and Russian forces face each other with bayonets. Why not try to make peace there, too?

Good Faith

I do not blame the western leaders for demanding that Russian good faith be guaranteed by something more solid than the mere word of the Soviet government.

But the same principle works the other way, too.

The Russians have the right to guarantee that the proposed Atlantic Alliance is for defence only.

They do not know that yet, for the very good reason that even we Canadians do not know it.

For only a few people at the top so far know what is in the proposed treaty.

The Atlantic Alliance could be a good thing, or it could be a very bad and dangerous thing.

If it is first, last and all the time an arrangement for joint defence of one land, sea and sky area of this earth, that is fine and good.

But if, in fact, it commits Canada to fight in a war started by some U.S. provocation, it would be unacceptable to many Canadians.

Nor do I believe Canadians would agree to send another army over to Europe to defend Holland if the Dutch were allowed to keep a vast army doing the very thing in Asia that the Alliance is supposed to prevent in Europe.

If President Truman's real reason for hedging on the meeting with Marshal Stalin is that he fears the whole thing is a trick to forestall the signing of the Atlantic Alliance, let him send the pact to the Senate right now.

Let him meet Stalin with the Atlantic Alliance already an accomplished fact, if he so desires. But let him agree to meet Stalin face to face.

And let them both quit quibbling over minor details as to place.

Divide World

Contrary to what some Communists claim, there is nothing vicious or bad with the general principle of dividing the world up into regional defence zones.

That, by the way, was exactly what Henry Wallace proposed in the famous speech which President Truman personally ok'd then later fired Wallace for making.

In my opinion, we can never get real, firm and lasting peace till we establish a democratic world parliament which will take away from all the national governments the right and power to make war on other nations.

Meanwhile, as the Bible put it, our job is to "seek peace, and ensue it."

The great world need is for a breathing spell — a period in which statesman applying what Laurier called "sunny ways" would melt the frozen faces of the cold war.

The Question Is 'When?'

Announcement that the hotel projected by the Glenton Development Company is now a certainty is the best kind of news for Edmonton people.

The 550 rooms afforded by this new building together with the 350 rooms provided by the extension to the Macdonald hotel will make a total of 900 new rooms in the city.

That means that only 1,600 more hotel rooms must be found immediately to bring the city's hotel situation up to something approaching adequacy.

But while 2,500 additional hotel rooms might be almost good enough for the present, the need will probably be something like 5,000 within a year or so.

That is why the most important question to be answered by officials of the Glenton Development Company is just exactly when a beginning is to be made.

The announcement says that work will commence "shortly"—perhaps within six weeks.

"Shortly" is a good promising word. But it doesn't mean very much.

If we are not mistaken, it was the term used to describe the date of construction when the preliminary deal was made away last summer.

The point is that Edmonton's hotel need is more than urgent.

It is desperate.

The industrial and commercial development of the city depends upon it.

Is it not possible, then, to have something a little more tangible and definite about the day when work will actually begin?

Save the Children Fund

Before this week ends Edmonton's Save the Children Fund hopes to secure a full carload of clothing to send to the needy children of ravaged Europe.

It is a splendid objective. And it represents an appeal to which no civilized person can close his ears.

For the unhappy lot of European children could so easily have been the lot of Edmonton children.

And one has only to transpose the face and figure of one's own child for the face and figure of any European child to picture the situation in all its horror.

But clothing is not the only item sought by those who are conducting this drive.

Cash is required to buy nourishing food for these children.

It should be necessary, then, to do no more than remind Edmonton people that cash and clothing may be sent to 8910 Jasper, the headquarters of the drive.

Ordinary compassion should do the rest.

Against Germans

Editor, Bulletin—I believe the German nightingale, Miss Erna Sack, is supposed to sing in Edmonton around Feb. 9th.

Now I do not approve of all this fuss over Miss Sack, because she is a German. Immediately I make such a statement, a flood of protest arises such as that I am very nastily informed: I wish the boys at Dieppe had been more narrow-minded; they would not be there today.

Miss Sack demands $3,000 per performance, I believe, and of course, like all the latest German finds, was deeply anti-Nazi. They all are nowadays. Any Edmontonian who would pay to hear Miss Sack should be ashamed of themselves. Let's pay our $3,000 fees to deserving Canadians not latchers-on from World War II.

Transit Fares

Editor, Bulletin—While it is evident that Mr. Wilson of Mr. Wilson and his examination of the running of the transit system here may have brought up many important points and may give much valuable advice, there will still be a difference of opinion as to his suggestion in raising the present price of fares to make up the deficiency.

I cannot see that it is imperative for council to follow his advice here.

He seems to think that if the utilities were joined there would be a lack of responsibility in management but this is open to question.

Our city wants good, cheap transportation within its boundaries and to raise the fares may mean a loss of passengers in the summer time especially through bicycles, motor cars and walking, so no gain would be made.

The workers and those with large families and aged and sick children cannot afford it.

Although Mr. Wilson objects to a subsidy I think it is the best way out for all.

Wilson Report

Editor, Bulletin—The report of Norman D. Wilson, Toronto transit expert, must come as a shock to most Edmontonians who are daily users of this means of transportation.

It appears from this report that Mr. Wilson has studied this problem from only one source—"How much could the fares be raised without too much opposition from the general public?" His remarks are rather vague in regards to the Transit System being interrelated with other public utilities which are operating on a surplus basis.

Surely if our city council and administrators were really interested in solving this problem they could find many other ways to do so, without placing the full burden on the working people who have to use them. I wonder if the city fathers have investigated the following suggestions, and if so, perhaps give an answer:

Provincial Government officials have just released a statement that revenue from the gasoline tax will reach eight million dollars; when the 1948-49 fiscal year ends. And taking into consideration that there are over 16,000 privately owned vehicles, without adding commercial vehicles, we can assume that Edmonton-ians are putting a large portion of that eight million dollars into the provincial coffers. How much of this money does the city get for the maintenance of Edmonton's main roads? The same could be asked of vehicle license taxes.

Mr. Wilson, in his reply to the question "Would the suggested raise in fares bring the system to a critical state which would cause passenger volume to fall off?", said that the people had to come down town to do business. He forgot to mention that the business concerns, who are enjoying such a large volume of trade, could well afford a slight increase in the business taxes, without undue hardship.

If a Gallup poll on public opinion to Mr. Wilson's proposed fare hike were taken I'm sure that the results would be for further investigation.

Leave the Clocks Alone

Editor, Bulletin — One hears with sadness that "half wits" are again to ask the government to impose that completely asinine scheme, daylight saving time, upon us.

What fools they must be that they try to kid themselves they are getting up at 8 o'clock when they know full well it is but 7.

The utter disorganization, frustration, and worry caused by this childish scheme is evident in the confusion with time tables, trains, ships.

Calls For High Rents

Editor, Bulletin — I notice the new federal budget includes extension of rental controls.

Let us hope this means control of rents which are already very high, especially in the more recently constructed homes and apartments.

Wages of all classes of workers have increased tremendously while rents of the modest type of home are little higher than before the war.

In many cases landlords simply can not afford to keep their homes in repair, thus developing slum conditions.

Furnaces For Ore

Editor, Bulletin—I have good news this time. When I was a boy at school in eastern Canada, fifty years ago, we were informed that Canada possessed no high grade iron ore. And I for one remember yet, how badly I felt about it. Because it meant that we had to buy our steel from some outside nation.

And now after half a century has passed, the precious iron ore of a high grade is found. It cheers my old heart and makes up for earlier disappointment. There is an immense quantity in Labrador and some in Ontario.

I know that Canada possesses the money to mine and treat this metal from the ore to the finished product.

As for the intestinal fortitude and the know-how to carry this out is another matter, under the capitalistic system.

Mr. Howe for the Canadian government has just made a high offer of assistance to builders of blast furnaces, fifty-fifty, or dollar for dollar.

There will be no need for our iron companies and iron workers selling out to other nations.

The test will come soon. It won't be long.

If we don't have our own homemade steel and iron within five years, then one and all of us will know for certain, "that there is something rotten in the state of Denmark."

We live in a state of constant suspense. Spies and fifth-columnists are working among us.

The high cost of living is due in part to the unsettled conditions of the world. Taxes are swollen to defray expenses for defence against the Red aggression.

American wealth is being poured out to help many lands defend themselves against the Red plague. There's aid for Greek and for Turkey, aid for Greece, aid for all Western Europe through the Marshall Plan which Russia is trying her best to disrupt.

Small wonder, then, that most citizens of the democracies should be making it their business to study developments and personalities involved in this cold war.

Music of the Ages

Editor, Bulletin—There is a true story of a Scot who lay dying and whose last request was for a "wee tune" of the pipes outside his hospital window. It was gratified and the result was that the Scot recovered but six assseanchs in adjoining wards died. No doubt they were relatives of the B.B.C. officials who, H. L. Weir informs us, insist that the bagpipe is not a musical instrument.

The bagpipe is more than a musical instrument. It is an institution. It is the national music of the canniest people on earth. There is a hilarity and roundness to the tunes that stirs the sober, thrifty Scot to great deeds. That is something no other musical instrument can claim to achieve. Who could route march to a piano, violin or other such classified musical instrument? True, a brass band is inspiring, many instruments, which by themselve, would create a cacophony beyond words. The pipes are an entity, need no aid, just numbers to add to the enjoyment.

There is nothing like the terrific skirl of "Johnny Cope" for reveille. Men jump out of bed in self defence. The mournful dirge of "Johnny Lie Down" the last thing at night makes a man creep below his blankets so utterly worn out that there is no counting sheep.

For dancing to the pipes, the reels, Highland fling, sword dance and gigs are the acme of spirit, grace and beauty. The octave on which the music is pitched is beyond most people as it is only those farthest evolved from barbarism who understand and enjoy the marches, strathspeys, reels and pibrochs of the pipes. It takes years to become an accomplished piper, to become expert at the grace notes that intersperse the tunes.

Furthermore, the pipes have one secret quality that no other instrument can claim. When old and worn out, they can be ground down into the most wonderful haggis.

Only the truly great fully appreciate the music of the pipes. The lesser souls are simply envious. It is the music of the ages.

Bagpipe music first was heard,
In Gaelic accents deep
When Tubal in his oxter squeezed
The blether of a sheep.

ODDS AND ENDS

By Harold L. Weir

Human Nature Unchanged Since Bad Old Nero's Day

Those fastidious eyebrows that have been wandering heavenward since last Friday's rough, tough hockey game might just as well come down and be sociable again because all the savagery displayed in the memorable game does not indicate that the world is coming to an end.

WEIR

There has been, as a matter of fact, a perfect symphony of gasps all over the country this season about the so-called brutality of the national winter game.

Even those august moguls of sport who foregather in the Maple Leaf Gardens every Saturday night under the name of the Hot Stove League have applied the irresistible weight of their combined intellects to the problem and even their eastern complacency has retired from the contact with slightly wrinkled brow.

These oracles, not of Delphi, have hoisted their legs around their tripods, coughed away the steam and confessed themselves baffled.

What is wrong with hockey, they ask, when players slash, jam and wallop each other, not only in Edmonton, but in every rink across the country?

Is it the fault of the players, of the coaches, of the rules, of the referees?

It is fundamentally none of these, gentle reader. It is the fault of the crowds. And that means you and me.

Public Wants It

I do not presume to rush into any sports controversy with no better equipment than a slight facility at blackjack and an itinerant knack for filling busted straights.

But it seems to me that the problem of rough-and-tumble hockey is not so much a sports problem as a problem in human nature.

And I point, with anything but pride, at the long and gory history of the human race which exulted and still exults in the spurting of blood and the giving and taking of contusions.

Due to the influence of a compassionate religion and a humane civilization, which are not necessarily the same or even alike, the human animal may control his sadistic impulses a little better in this year of grace than he did in the age of Nero.

But those impulses are still there.

Human nature, so far as it is purely human, has not changed a bit since bad old Nero set his lions to nipping at the lean flanks of the early Christians.

The only difference between our day and his is that we haven't got any lions.

Social Cruelty

The sad and unpalatable truth is that there is a public demand for violent and bloody spectacles.

I am not acquainted with the statistics in the matter, but I have a general idea that whenever and wherever there is a particularly boisterous hockey game, or any sanguine boxing match or a wrestling show in which the contestants get themselves tied into peculiarly ghastly knots, the next display in the series is sure to be a sell-out.

That is probably as true in the Edmonton Arena as it undoubtedly is in Madison Square Gardens.

Native human cruelty has popped up in a variety of forms in almost every generation since the world began.

No sooner did mediaeval torture begin to disappear than such things as bear-baiting began to take the public fancy. And no sooner was bear-baiting forbidden than cock-fights began to keep the young blades out o' nights.

In a general way human cruelty in this age is a bit more subtle.

We don't burn people at the stake in this enlightened period, but we do take their reputations to pieces over backyard fences.

What the age of chivalry did with a thumbscrew, we do with our wagging tongues.

Human nature hasn't changed at all.

Caruso Went To Heaven

I am reminded of an editorial written in the Hearst papers by the late Arthur Brisbane on that day, many years ago, when Enrico Caruso died.

I can't recall the exact text, of course, but it went something like this:

Last night Caruso died and went to heaven.

No sooner was he installed beyond the pearly gates and had rid himself of his muffler and his rubbers, than he was surrounded by the great musical figures of all time.

The shades of Beethoven, Brahms, Chopin, Grieg, Paganini and even Orpheus crowded around him, shaking his hand, pounding his back and asking interminable questions.

"Now tell us, Caruso," said Chopin, "what is this world like that we have left behind these many years?"

Caruso thought for a moment and said:

"Well, a few hundred people will pay up to four or five dollars to hear me sing if the night is fine and if there is nothing else to do. But, on the other hand, up to sixty or a hundred thousand people will pay up to fifty dollars apiece to see two prize-fighters maul each other no matter what the weather is like."

Beethoven sighed. Brahms shook his head.

And Orpheus said sadly:

"Ah, men haven't changed a bit—even since my time. Please sing us something, Caruso."

Hoffman Will Ask Extension of ERP

Over Five Billion Needed To Carry Europe Through

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—Foreign aid chief Paul G. Hoffman asked Congress today to help assure the world's "peace and stability" with a multi-million dollar expansion of the Marshall Plan.

"If that program brings us peace and stability—and I fervently believe it can—it will turn out to be the greatest bargain the American people ever had," Hoffman said.

The foreign aid boss testified before a joint session of the house and senate foreign relations committees which began full-dress hearings on the administration's request for $5,580,000,000 to finance the giant European aid program another 15 months. The administration wants $5,420,000,000 committed by and another $150,000,000 later.

SEVEN OTHERS

Hoffman was to be followed by secretary of state Dean Acheson and W. Averell Herriman, ECA's roving ambassador to Europe. Later, six of the recovery agency's European mission chiefs will tell congress what Marshall Plan nations are doing about helping themselves toward economic stability.

Hoffman said the Economic Co-Operation Administration had arrived at these figures as minimum requirements for continued operation of the European Recovery Program:

$4,280,000,000 for the full year beginning July 1. The first year cost $5,055,000,000.

$1,150,000,000 to carry the program from April 1, when its present funds run out, to next June 30. $150,000,000 to be asked later to finance projects which cannot be completed before June 30, 1950.

These, he said, represent cuts from requests of the participating nations.

"It may be well that we have been too harsh in our cuts, that we have underestimated the minimum needs of Europe," he said. "If that should prove the case I may have to come back to congress and ask for more funds.

BE A PLEASURE

"On the other hand, if miracles should happen, and it should turn out that the job can be done with less, it will be done with less. Nothing would give me more satisfaction than to be able to return ECA funds to the United States Treasury."

PROTECTING CAREER?

Author's Wife Charges Beatings and Swearing

PARIS, Feb. 8.—(Reuters)—Madame Zinaida Gorlova, former wife of Victor Kravchenko, said in court yesterday the author had beaten her, used obscene language and wanted her to have an abortion.

Dressed in black with an upswept hair-do, she told the court hearing Kravchenko's libel action against the French Communist periodical, Les Lettres Francaises, that she now had only feelings of "repulsion and contempt" for the author of the anti-Soviet book, "I Chose Freedom."

People jostled and elbowed for seats in the courtroom to hear Madame Gorlova, who flew from Russia to testify. She gave her age as 36 and described her marriage as "the most sorrowful happening of my life."

She said that when she became pregnant there were scenes and Kravchenko and his mother wanted her to have an abortion.

"He said he did not want a child because it would spoil his career," she told the court.

Kravchenko took the stand to declare that his former wife had been forced by the Soviet political police to come to Paris to testify against him. He alleged the police had a grip on her because her father is "a former Czarist officer" and her mother had been sent to Siberia.

Canada's Public Enemy No. 1 Suspected In Bogus Money

OSHAWA, Ont., Feb. 8.—(CP)—Police suspect the hand of Donald (Mickey) McDonald—Canada's public enemy No. 1—behind a cache of United States counterfeit money found under a bathtub here yesterday.

They nabbed Edwin McDonald, Mickey's younger brother, Edwin's wife, and more than $10,000 in counterfeit bills when they raided a dwelling in search of narcotics. Edwin and his 26-year-old wife, accused of having the counterfeit money in their possession, were remanded to Feb. 14 on bail of $20,000.

BIG RING

Police said they believed the pair may be part of an international counterfeit ring, headed by the notorious Mickey, who escaped from Kingston Penitentiary in August, 1947, while serving a 15-year term for theft of a liquor truck.

Edwin, 30, who also took part in the $35,000 liquor theft, was released from Kingston only a few months ago after serving a five-year stretch.

RCMP said the bogus bills, expertly made, were similar to counterfeit money recently circulated in New York state, where Mickey is reported to be hiding. A U.S. secret service officer was en route here to take part in the investigation.

The police staged the gun-point raid primarily in search of narcotics, following reports of suspicious conduct at the dwelling and heroin dealings in this district.

Fight Communists

DEVONPORT, England, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Arthur Deakin, general secretary of the Transport and General Workers Union, said Monday British and American labor leaders will discuss setting up a new non-Communist world labor group. The British Trades Union Congress, the American Congress of Industrial Organizations and Netherlands Labor Unions withdrew from the World Federation of Trade Unions last month. They contended the WFTU is Communist-dominated.

Wheat Talks Still Snagged

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(CP)—The world's four major wheat exporters stuck by their guns yesterday, insisting that the top price in any international wheat agreement should be $2 a bushel.

Charles F. Brannan, United States secretary of agriculture, told the 33-country steering committee of the International Wheat Conference that his country's stand on prices is unchanged. He told reporters later that Canada, Australia and Russia support the United States.

Dr. Charles P. Wilson, Canadian delegate to the 33-country meeting, declined to comment. It was recalled, however, that in a public statement shortly after the conference started Jan. 26 he said Canada would support the prices written into the unsuccessful pact of last year.

That agreement, which failed because of Congress's refusal to ratify it, called for a top price of $2 and floor prices dropping 10 cents a year from $1.50 in 1948-49 to $1.10 in 1952-53.

Brannan's statement today, asking "adherence" to the prices agreed on last year, came as the conference reached a crucial stage.

The matter of quantity, although still kept secret, has been decided.

So fearful were police to shield apparently not a major issue. Price is the sore spot. Importers are reported pledging for a $1 maximum, with correspondingly lower minimum prices.

T. Sheed Anderson of Britain told reporters he repeated today his country's request for "substantial reduction" all down the line.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 8.—(AP)—A minor traffic accident has Sidney Caplan talking to himself.

A car backed around a corner, struck Caplan, and crashed into a store. Only slightly hurt, Caplan rushed over to tell the driver a thing or two.

Perreault Transferred

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Donald Perreault, the man whose testimony helped sentence to the gallows two men who allegedly had been his friends and accomplices in an east-end police killing last September, has been transferred from Montreal to Quebec "for his health."

The tall, be-spectacled young man who sat coolly through the trials of Noel Coutlee and Douglas Perreault while watching his testimony convict them of shooting two police constables, will be sheltered in the Quebec city common jail until his trial on a murder charge here March 21.

Called "Donald-the-rat-Perreault" publicly by Coutlee, Perreault was taken to Quebec Friday evening.

So fearful were police to shield him from the attentions of "friends," they deliberately gave out wrong information concerning his transfer.

U.S. Police Still Seek City Boy

CALGARY, Feb. 8.—(CP)—A 15-year-old Edmonton boy, arrested in Great Falls, Montana, Saturday in connection with the theft of an automobile in Calgary earlier last week, arrived in the city under police escort. He is expected to appear in juvenile court later today.

Meanwhile, Montana State and Great Falls police are searching for the youth's 14-year-old companion who escaped under fire early Saturday following a break-in at a Great Falls general store.

The two juveniles are believed to be responsible for five car thefts in Alberta last week.

Canada Reds Planning Several Nominations

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—(CP) — A resolution passed at the national convention of the Labor-Progressive Party yesterday stated "the central task of the Labor-Progressive Party in all fields of activity is the defeat of the war parties."

The resolution became the party platform for the coming year, especially with regard to the next federal election.

It said the party's main emphasis in the election would be in Toronto-Trinity, where the party's national leader, Tim Buck, has already been nominated a candidate and in Montreal and Winnipeg. There is also a possibility of additional nominations in some 15 other constituencies.

SUPPORT CCF

In ridings where there is no Labor-Progressive candidate, the party is pledged to support of CCF, farmer or labor candidates, said the resolution. (The CCF party has frequently repudiated such support).

The convention decided to send a telegram to President Truman condemning the indictment of 12 leaders of the United States Communist Party, and also telegrams to Prime Minister St. Laurent and The Netherlands ambassador condemning Dutch violation of United Nations cease-fire orders in Indonesia. A protest will be sent to the Greek legation against the alleged mass executions of guerrillas in Greece.

Later, officials of the party indicated it was intended to nominate candidates in the next federal election in the following constituencies:

Ontario — Toronto-Trinity, Wentworth, Essex East, Fort William.

Quebec—Montreal Cartier.

Manitoba—Winnipeg North.

Alberta — Vegreville, Edmonton East, Macleod, Bow River.

British Columbia — Comox-Alberni, Vancouver Centre.

LOCAL GRID CLUB SEEKS REAL McCOY

Edmonton Eskimos are taking their name seriously. They are now negotiating with a real, live Eskimo to be a player on the Western Canada Interprovincial Football union team.

Officials of the club were not even certain of his name, but he is employed with CENI radio station at Anchorage, Alaska, and was a member of Yale University football team until his graduation.

Name of the football team, however, not necessarily will be "Edmonton Eskimos." "Oilers" has also been suggested. Decision will be made by the Touchdown Club when the 800 subscribers' list has been completed.

Already $10,000 has been contributed by subscribers.

Bill Corbett and a Ring Fan

"HI, MISTER" says nine-year-old Terry Scott to husky Billy Corbett, Sedro Wooley (Seattle) middleweight who takes on Edmonton's Roddy MacDonald at Stock Pavilion Thursday night. An ardent ring follower, Terry was on deck at Gateway Gym to watch Corbett go through his paces last night. He wouldn't predict a winner Thursday, however, as he also likes MacDonald.

Hard-Punching Corbett A Tough-Luck Scrapper

By Dick Beddoes

Billy Corbett has a lot of luck in his 23 years on this green footstool. But if you listen real hard to this soft-spoken young man from Sedro-Wooley, Seattle, you learn that it has all been bad.

In case you miss this trend in the Corbett biography as related by Corbett himself, his manager, Lou Principi, hastens to set you right.

The pair made the rounds of Edmonton's newspaper offices last night with local fight promoter Gene Mason in tow. Corbett will box 10-rounds of a different nature with Rod MacDonald at the Stock Pavilion Thursday night.

TOUGH LUCK KID

It was on this tour of the local Fleet Street that Corbett, a balding, 160-pound kid with 31 professional fights for a pugilistic background, revealed how tough his luck has been.

It all began early in his life. "The kid was born an orphan," related Principi, warming up to his topic, "and remained one for the first 18 years of his life."

After the orphan mishap Corbett contracted a bone disease which resulted in his right leg becoming two inches shorter than his left. He got around this in his youth by wearing a shoe with a built-up sole.

According to the tale Corbett was adopted at 18. About this time he succeeded in enlisting in Uncle Sam's navy, and it was during his short hitch on the bounding waves that he began to use his fists in the ring. He won some kind of naval middleweight title in North Carolina, name of which wouldn't come to the mind of either Corbett or Principi last evening.

BAD FIGHT MANAGER

Finally, three years ago, a "shyster fight manager" named Mickey King took up Corbett's contract and started matching him against all comers. On the side this guy King played the mouth organ and Principi pointed out that "King was as good a mouth organist as he was a bad fight manager."

"That makes him pretty good," Mr. Corbett observed.

Anyhow Bill knocked off such opponents as Johnny Levintino, King Henry Lee, Joe Latterman, and Roy Wouters while bearing the yoke for Mickey King. King always seemed to grab the lion's share of Corbett's purses, leaving the kid flat.

During the past three years Corbett racked up 28 victories, and scored 14 of them via the knockout route. He has been beaten by Wouters and Eddie Cotton. His chief stock in trade is a sock in either hand akin to the kick of a Georgia mule.

King came under the gaze of several boxing commissions for some misdemeanor or other and late in '48 his manager's licence was suspended. When asked how he came to be freed from King and picked up by Principi Mr. Corbett replied:

"Oh, just lucky I guess."

Mason announced Monday that Rufus Goodstriker, Cardston, would tangle with Hal (Logger) Armstrong, Edson, in a special six-round attraction on the Thursday card.

Charles Wins Slugging Match

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati took a furious slugging match from Johnny Haynes of New York Monday night, scoring a knockout at 2:38 of the eighth round of their scheduled 10-rounder at the Arena. Charles weighed 179, Haynes 214.

The Cincinnati hopeful overcame a 35-pound weight handicap to whip the six-foot-four-inch Haynes before 4,731 who paid $31,247.

But Charles was not an impressive fighter and the windup was greeted by a mass chorus of boos as Haynes sat on the canvas and took the full count.

Saddler, Pep Ready for Battle

NEW YORK, Feb., 8.—(AP)—Sandy Saddler, featherweight boxing champion and ex-titleholder Willie Pep were declared to be in "great shape" Monday by physicians of the New York State Athletic commission.

Saddler, who dethroned Pep via a four-round knockout last October, and Connecticut Willie will meet in a return, title 15-rounder in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Grid Heads Hot On Trail Of Filchock For Coach

Frank Gnup Also Sought For Field-Chief Job

By Lloyd Jenkins

Frank Filchock, one of the finest football players on the continent today, is being sought by Edmonton Eskimos as playing coach of our town's entry in the Western Canada Interprovincial Rugby Football league.

Others being considered are Frank Gnup, Hamilton Wildcats, and Herb Knopf, athletic director of Boston College.

Latest information here is the amalgamation of "Wildcats" and "Tigers" at Hamilton is by no means final, let alone who will be coach if it does occur. Should Filchock remain in Hamilton, then probably Gnup would be available though not necessarily vice-versa.

WE WANT FRANKIE

Filchock is being sought diligently by Ottawa Rough Riders and other teams. It is also rumored that the Tiger quarter-back, barred from professional football in the United States, may be reinstated.

He is said to regard the coming year as the one in which he must get the highest return. Eric M. Duggan, chairman of the Eskimos players' committee, said that Edmonton was still willing to compete.

Officials of the club are not unanimous on the subject of a playing or non-playing coach.

They do agree though, that someone who knows Canadian football should be the first year coach. That means either a Canadian or an American import who has played football in Canada for some years.

It is hoped that he may be used for coaching school teams and other amateurs in an attempt to build up local talent.

Eskimos will do everything possible to build a championship club the first year, Walker Blake, chairman of the publicity committee, told The Bulletin. The club will use to the full its right of five imports.

Applications are being received from all over Canada and many parts of the United States. Most negotiations for players were in a highly tentative state when nothing definite could be released for publication.

WANT IRVING, HOBBS

Duggan, however, said the club was interested in Harry Irving and Harry Hobbs, University of Alberta, who turned out with Calgary Stampeders last year.

Number of games to be played is not yet final. While an 18-game schedule was originally decided, pressure is now being brought to bear to reduce the 9 12-game regular schedule, six at home and six away.

Four other games might be added: Calgary and Edmonton playing a home-and-home extra, and Regina and Winnipeg doing likewise. Teams participating in the play-offs would add two extra, bringing the possible total of games for Edmonton to eight at home and eight away.

Walker Blake said the club executive did not intend to monopolize Clark Stadium, thereby making amateur baseball homeless. The club would work out a schedule with the Recreation Commission which would make provision for other teams.

How many hours were required for practice depended considerably on the length of the schedule, as well as the desire of the coach.

Enter Esk, Exit Bear Gridders

University of Alberta Golden Bears aren't expected to play football in the western intercollegiate amateur union next fall, a spokesman for the University Athletic Board announced Monday night.

Reason for the Golden Bear withdrawal from college football is believed to be the entrance of Edmonton Eskimos into the western conference. With the Esks in the field the Bears can't expect to draw crowds to their games or keep their top flight players from joining the Edmonton club.

The Golden Bear equipment will be purchased by the Eskimo management.

UAB officials are also considering plans for constructing a university stadium. This stadium is only in the proposal stage, however, and no plans for financing it have been discussed.

Watson Crashes 'Select Circle'

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—(CP)—National league's leading marksmen had a lean week-end. Not one of the charter members collected a point but one newcomer broke into the select circle for the first time. Harry Watson of Toronto picked up three assists to move into a 64th-place tie. Chicago's Doug Bentley still leads the parade with 51 points.

THE LEADERS:

	G	A	Pts
D. Bentley, Chicago	19	32	51
R. Conacher, Chicago	21	26	47
Abel, Detroit	20	26	46
J. Conacher, Chicago	19	28	47
Reay, Montreal	18	19	37
Watson, Toronto	18	16	34
Polle, Detroit	15	19	34
Bodnar, Chicago	15	19	34

Extra bleachers would be added if attendance warranted. "We will be willing—indeed we would be pleased—to have to provide for 10,000 persons," declared Henry Singer, club vice-president.

MONEY SAVER

Season passes will be instituted at a cheaper rate than per game general admission. Equipment is being obtained from the disbanding University of Alberta football club.

University authorities have indicated to the club their willingness to make available football players who wish to turn out.

The fifteen business men who are members of the executive have been meeting each Thursday, and sometimes twice a week, ironing out problems. Blake said they were enthusiastic about Edmonton's chances of having a first-lass senior rugby club the first year.

Entry of Edmonton makes a better schedule, as one team does not remain idle as was the case when Calgary, Regina and Winnipeg only comprised the league.

Monaghan Drops Bout in Big Upset

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—World flyweight champion Rinty Monaghan and two highly-regarded American welterweights dropped decisions Monday night in an upset-rocked fight program at the Harringay Arena.

Monaghan, the tough little Irish crooner, lost an eight-round nontitle verdict to Terry Allen of England. Each weighed 116 pounds.

Then before the sellout crowd of 10,500 could recover from the shock, Billy Graham and Tony Janiro, favored invaders from the United States, bowed to rugged homebred foes in 10-round skirmishes.

The clever, sharp-jabbing Graham from New York bowed to Eddie Thomas, wiry Welsh coalminer. Janiro, the baby-faced sniper from Youngstown, Ohio, lost a close decision to Henry Hall, the British welterweight champion.

Thomas, who took off only two weeks from the coal pits to prepare for his Yankee foe, stalked Graham continuously. He piled up points with his left and seldom brought his right into play.

CAHA Chief Backs McDonald's Stand

REGINA, Feb. 8.—(CP)—President Al Pickard of the Canadian Amateur Hockey association says the CAHA will back hockey authorities to the limit in their efforts to eliminate the type of hockey that resulted in several injuries in a Regina-Edmonton game at Edmonton last Friday.

Pickard said:

"The CAHA has no sympathy with that type of play. The CAHA —he says—will back up president D. P. McDonald of the Western Canada Senior Hockey league and other officials to the limit in their efforts to stop that kind of thing."

Pickard added that he is not blaming anyone for the trouble at Edmonton.

He adds that he had been talking to referee Stan Swain who handled the game. However, Pickard stated he did not have time to discuss the matter thoroughly with Swain. However, Pickard added Swain was of the opinion that the position of the players benches at Edmonton likely aggravated the trouble.

Pickard is awaiting official reports and did not indicate what action might be taken, if any.

LOUIS AGREES TO MEXICAN DIVORCE

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis said Monday he had agreed to a Mexican divorce by his wife, Marva.

They were divorced in 1946, but re-married, and have two chilren, Jacqueline, five and Joseph, Jr., 14 months.

Joe originally married Marva Sept. 24, 1935, a few hours before his bout with Max Baer.

BAILEY FOR CALLIHAN

Ball Trade Winds Blow In Local Big 4 Sector

Here's a sure sign that Ol' Man Winter has just about had it.

John Ducey, Mr. Bigdome insofar as local baseball is concerned, has that gleam in his eye again. He gets that way every year about this time.

It may be cold and there may be plenty of snow down at Renfrew Park, but that isn't stopping Big Jawn as he goes about the business of lining up talent for the coming hickory season.

He announced Monday that the trade winds were starting to blow in the Edmonton region of the Big Four league. The deal, which has been approved by Big Four moguls, will send Vern Callihan of Edmonton Eskimos to Edmonton Motors Cubs for outfielder Clair Bailey.

No cash was involved in the player transaction. Bailey is a member of the New York Yankee chain and Ducey wasn't sure just what the American league club had in mind for Bailey during the 1949 summer. For all Ducey knows Bailey also may be subject to the American draft rule.

Should Bailey be unable to play his baseball here this summer it is understood that a new arrangement will be worked out between the Cubs and Eeks. Callihan a pitcher, is an Edmonton product.

Moher ON SPORT

By STAN MOHER, Sports Editor

Come in Joe, Rita and the Dean

Now that Mayor Harry Ainlay, Al Pickard and Bill Hunter, the Saskatoon firebrand, have had their say re last Friday's stick-swinging schemozzle at the Arena about the only public figures remaining outside the act are Joe Stalin, Rita Hayworth and the Red Dean of Canterbury.

Personally we think the mayor went off half-cocked, just as did league president D. P. McDonald when he hastily handed out what appear to be entirely inadequate sentences to Friday's principals, especially the hickory-wielding Vic Myles.

There's no denying Mayor Ainlay's sentiments in the matter of the serious turn events might have taken. But we think the whole matter is one which WCHL heads should be permitted time to settle, without outside help, at least for the present.

After all Ken (Beans) Reardon and Cal Gardner took to using each other's heads as chopping blocks in a National Hockey league game not so long back. The sticks were swung in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens but it's not recorded that the mayor of Toronto wasn't entirely satisfied to let Clarence Campbell, NHL head, see to it that justice was done.

Sport, particularly professional sport, generally can be counted upon to keep its house pretty well in order. There's too much at stake to do otherwise.

* * * *

Maybe he isn't Photogenic

On the local front, anyway, D. P. McDonald continues as the No. 1 candidate for any hanging-in-effigy movement that might get underway.

Our own experience with the league president has lead us to believe that he doesn't have nearly the proper perspective as to the magnitude of his job as head of one of the most important pro circuits in the land.

Frequently we have detected a "what's all the shooting about . . . why get excited?" point of view in his approach to league problems.

Typical was his attitude following his early (12:30) a.m. Saturday morning release disclosing that Myles, Colin Kilburn, 'Dutchy' Van Deelan and Doug Lane had been suspended for the next Edmonton-Regina game, as well as being hooked for a $25 fine.

"No . . . no!" he got off when asked to 'sit' for his picture. "I'm in bed by this time."

Why right here in the gateway to the north there are at least half a dozen of the leading sportsmen who wouldn't think of turning in for their shut-eye until at least 12:45 . . . just in case a chance to be done up brown by a photographer came their way.

But the president of the WCHL? No sir.

* * * *

Western Loop Weak in the Knees

Actually Mr. McDonald didn't happen to be in Edmonton that day on league business at all. He came north—if our information is correct—to sit in on a gas enquiry of some kind or other.

Logically, enough, he grasped the opportunity before him of also taking in the Flyers-Regina contest. It was only natural that he should have been a mite weary by midnight. It which case his being between the sheets when he was constituted no part of a crime.

However, the fact that D. P. McDonald is trying to combine his regular legal work with the presidency of the Western circuit serves to highlight a great weakness within the executive framework of the loop.

Presidency of the WCHL is a big enough job that whoever holds office should do so on a full-time basis. Also it's responsible enough job to be worth $5,000 or more per year.

We think it high time the franchise holders got around to this point of view.

We think it time they took the rubber off their bankrolls and installed a full-time operator in the presidential chair.

After all, the WCHL isn't any part of a doughnuts-and-coffee league, despite the efforts of certain people to create the impression that it is.

NO, IT AIN'T Gorgeous George clamping a head lock on Yvon Robert. It's Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens on top of Bill Ezinicki, Toronto, during Canadien-Maple Leaf flare-up last Thursday night. The pair long have been a-feuding.

CHANDLER HAS 'PRIVATE EYES'

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Baseball commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler disclosed Monday night that two former agents of the FBI have been working out of his office for some time in the role of special investigators.

Chandler, who spoke at a banquet here, said the former FBI men have been employed to track down rumors and make any investigations deemed necessary.

The agents, whose names Chandler declined to reveal, are not now involved in any particular probe, the baseball commissioner said. They were engaged "to preserve the honesty and integrity of baseball.

'Red-eyes' Caused By Junior Action

If you should happen to see two City Junior Hockey league goal-tenders wandering around with blood-shot eyes today don't be surprised. The reddened condition comes from seeing that little goal light flash many times in loop action at the Arena Monday night.

Ron Hughes of the South Side and Bill Thomas of Canadians are the afflicted pair. Hughes saw 10 goals slip past him in the first game of the night as his mates collapsed 10-1 before Maple Leafs while Thomas was on the receiving end of eight tallies as EAC's triumphed over his club 8-2.

Of the two games the EAC-Canuck encounter was the best—but just for two periods. The undermanned (they had but 12 players in strip) Canadians held even 1-1 at the end of the initial stanza and were only down 3-2 after two sessions had passed. Five Clubmen goals in the finale accounted for the rout.

DICKSON'S "HAT TRICK"

Bruce Dickson turned the 'hat trick' to lead EAC to their victory which left them four points behind the front-running Leafs with two games left to play. Gerry Ball, Jack Schofield, George McAvoy, Duke Edmundson and Ken Head turned in the other Clubmen tallies.

South Side was on even terms with Leafs in their contest for a short time in the first period but after that the game turned into a rout. Ted Atanas drew top ice 2-1 after 20 minutes and added four goals in the second and third periods to complete the runaway.

Kay Steele, hitting his best form of the season, came up with three-goal performance to top the Leaf scoring. Single-tons went to Doug Macauley, Arnie Carnegie, Ed Frey, Jim Stewart, Nick Mandryk and Ron Phillips. McNally also picked up three assists and Strate one, both winding up with four points for the night.

The game was held up for 15 minutes in the third period when goalie Hughes suffered a cut ear when clipped by the puck.

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia, Feb. 8.—(Reuters)—The English cricket team's second match with Rhodesia ended Monday in a draw.

Touring Scots Curlers Win Strathcona Cup

TORONTO, Feb. 8 — (CP) — 92, and tied two. It scored 2,148 shots to 1,885.

Bundling the team records together, the visitors played 279 games, won 245, lost 164, tied 22, had 4,317 shots for and 3,399 against.

Lord Strathcona donated the trophy for competition between Scotland and Canada in 1909.

The trophy was at stake when Scottish teams came to Canada and when a Canadian team went to Scotland in 1926. The last competition was in 1938 when the Scots came to Canada. That year it was decided by a set of test matches in which picked rinks played at various centres and the trophy went to the local association winning the most games. The Ontario curling association took the honors.

Calgary Stamps Subdue Road-Weary Reginans 4-2

CALGARY, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Calgary Stampeders poured through the weakened Regina Capitals Monday night for a decisive 4-2 victory over the Western Canada Hockey league leaders.

Victory under their new coach Marty Burke broke a two-game losing streak for Stampeders. Burke replaced Jack Arbour as Stamp mentor at the week-end.

Hero of the contest was slim, agile Bev Bentley, stellar Regina netminder. He almost turned himself inside-out to stop the 40-shot barrage rained on him by Stamps.

The 5,200 fans gave him a warm ovation on almost every move.

The win boosted Calgary into third place, one point ahead of the idle Lethbridge Maple Leafs. Regina still is securely perched atop the five-team loop.

Calgary scoring honors were well-divided with Denny Huddleston, Red Hunter, Archie Scott and Bunny Dame getting one each. Harvey Barnes and Red Tilson tallied for the road-weary Caps.

SCREENED SHOT

Huddleston, gangling Stamp rearguard, shoved Calgary ahead in the first three minutes of play. He grabbed Culley's pass just inside the Regina blue line and his sizzling screened shot whipped past Bentley.

A hooking penalty to Huddleston set up Regina's opening tally midway through the period. Defenceman Harvey Barnes notched the equalizer from the face-off at the side of the Calgary net.

Veteran Red Hunter sent Stamps ahead before the second period was three minutes old with an eight-foot backhander that fooled Bentley. Red Tilson brought Regina back on even terms at the 14-minute mark when he slapped in Toby Brown's passout. Scott sent Calgary back into the lead a minute later when he tipped in Bud Emery's wide shot.

Veteran Bunny Dame scored the lone goal of the final for Calgary. Caps were without Vic Myles, Sweeney Schriner and Gus Kyle, all out with injuries.

Edmonton Skaters Are Rarin' to Go

Edmonton speed skaters — 22 strong—are scheduled to catch the rattler Wednesday night for Saskatoon where they will vie for honors in the Dominion speed skating championships Friday and Saturday. If cold weather continues, however, the championships will be postponed.

And it's a poteng team that is representing our town, what with champions like Doreen McLeod, Pat Gunn, Babs and Bill Kasting, and more, in the pink and rarin' to go.

Add to that the names of Jack Ward, a 'sure thing' for the five-mile jaunt, Bob Irwin, Connell Kelly, and Edmonton should do right well.

Others making the trip are Nancy Berry, Sylvia Robertson, Joan Hobbins, Myrna McLeod, Verna Currie, Lydia Burgette, Audrey Jones, Jocelyn Roop, Roy Failing, Max Rinn, Monty Elyea, Murry Gardiner, Bob Shaul and Jerry Wynn.

J. McEacharan, Mrs. Bert Barlow and coach Jim Woods will accompany the skaters.

1,624 Curlers At 'Peg 'Spiel

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8. — (CP) — Saskatchewan rinks fared badly in four games played Monday night in the Eaton event, one of the major competitions in Manitoba's 61st annual bonspiel which opened this morning with 1,624 curlers participating.

G. G. Baldwin of Fertile, Sask., was the only winner, defeating Frank Parry of Rivers, Man., 10-8.

Ab Gowanlock of Dauphin, Man., a former Dominion curling champion, came through with a 9-7 win over R. W. Eyre of West Kildonan, Man. Howard Wood of Winnipeg took his match from S. C. Thompson of Portage La Prairie, Man., by default.

Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg won 8-6 from Arenson of Winnipeg.

Joe DiMaggio's Contract Equal To Babe Ruth's Best

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio signed a contract approximately equal to Babe Ruth's best Monday in a setting slightly less gaudy than those in which the Babe usually concluded his salary negotiations.

Neither the Yankee officials nor their star centrefielder would give the terms of the document, other than to say it was for one year only. The best guesses, based on what is known about DiMaggio's previous rates of pay, were that the contract called for a base salary of more than $50,000, plus a series of bonuses, based upon the club's home attendance. Bonuses could bring Joe's total income up around the $90,000 figure or even higher if the Yankees had an unusually good year.

The Yankee Clipper termed it: "By far the best contract I ever had."

President Dan Topping confirmed that DiMaggio had received a raise over last year's contract on similar terms.

DiMaggio was the 20th Yankee to sign his 1949 contract. Shortly after the signing ceremonies were completed, outfielder Tommy Henrich dropped into the Yankee offices to discuss terms. He received an offer and decided to think it over until Wednesday.

Ruth, in his heyday, received a top pay of $80,000 under a two-year contract in 1930 and 1931. In addition he received a percentage of the gate receipts for the Yankees exhibition games which brought his total baseball income above the $90,000 mark.

DiMaggio, it was understood after his first two conferences with the club owners, was asking a flat $100,000 salary, which would have made him the highest-paid baseball player of all time.

Don Stanley Cops Point-Getting Honors

Don Stanley of Mercurys, currently doing his puck-chasing for Sudbury Wolves, Canada's entry in the world hockey championships, topped point-getters in the 1948-49 Northern Alberta Intermediate Hockey league season, according to official figures released Tuesday.

Mercurys' centre picked up 50 points, 28 goals and 22 assists to edge Bob 'Pusie' Proulx of Camrose, who wound up with 48 points on 23 counters and 25 assists. All told Mercurys picked off nine of the leading 20 points makers, including the third to sixth positions.

Wilbur Delainey, playing in 10 games for Mercurys, was leading goal tender with a 3.20 average. Bob Manson, also of Mercurys, was runner-up with a 3.64 average.

Fin McNaughton of Wetaskiwin led the bad-man race in a walk with 77 minutes in 'solitary'. Mercurys' Pete Wright was next in line with 64 minutes while Pat Bastien of Camrose had 56 minutes. Bastien, however, played only half as many games as the other two.

City Telephone Shortage Laid to Equipment Lack

By Lloyd Jenkins

If you are one of the 6,000 persons in Edmonton still waiting for a telephone, there is only one reason you can't get one: impossibility of obtaining sufficient automatic exchange equipment.

However: 1. By next May 2,500 downtown subscribers will have service. Work has been going on since last October installing the necessary exchange.

2. During 1949 about 8,000 new telephones will go into operation. This year 4,780 lines will be completed and 4,000 more at least partly completed.

Of actual telephones no shortage exists. City telephones have 7,000 phones which could be put into use if the exchange equipment could be obtained.

Only three companies manufacture such equipment in Canada: Seaman's (Canada) Co. Ltd., Winnipeg; Automatic Electric Co., Brockville; and the Northern Electric Co. Ltd., which supplies Bell Telephones only.

During the war no telephone equipment was manufactured. After the war, Edmonton was only one of many cities putting in orders, but this city had an increasing population to contend with as well as a war back-log of orders.

An order placed in June, 1945, was filled only recently.

Difficulty has also been encountered in getting underground cable. While this situation is easing, it takes a while to install after equipment has been received.

Recently a number of telephones were taken away from subscribers who were using them under other persons' names. Many persons have the mistaken idea that if they buy a house they are entitled to telephone service if it is already installed.

"We have to take out such 'phones," said Robert Christie, superintendent of City Phones. "Otherwise people complain that a person who has just come to the city has a 'phone while they have been on the waiting list for some time. Most persons who have lost 'phones did not even have a contract with us."

Edmonton now has 29,251 telephones compared with 19,033 in 1939.

Mr. Christie was unwilling to predict when the local situation would be back to normal.

Canada, with 150,000 persons awaiting telephone service, is still not as badly off as the United States, where 2,000,000 were reported on the telephone waiting list.

City Sells 159 Properties For Building Sites

Total of 159 properties was sold by the city land department since January 1 as sites for new houses.

Estimated value of the houses to be constructed on these properties is $1,136,500.

Selling price of the properties was $53,765.

'FRIEND AND HELPER'

Valentine Sweetness Improving With Age

St. Valentine's Day is a festival which has been celebrated for more than 1,600 years.

It's pretty horrible to think that it's named for a Christian saint who was beheaded by the Romans during their festival of love, but that's what all the books say. Christians took over the idea of a spring festival of love and it's been going strong ever since.

ONE LIKE CHRISTMAS

There was a time when Valentine's day for a lady was pretty much like another Christmas. Samuel Pepys, in his diary, tells of buying his wife six pairs of gloves, a pair of hose and garters, but then he says he would have had to buy them anyway.

At other times it was believed that a young lad's Valentine was the first lass he saw in the morning, and of course the lass's Valentine would be the first youth she saw.

BIRDS AS WELL

Even the birds were supposed to share in the mood of sweetness and light—maybe that's why there are so many birds on the Valentine cards we see now—they were supposed to choose their mates on Valentine's day.

Seems to me it's a lot more fun now—Valentine parties, and heart shaped cookies and those little red candy things and all the Valentines that everybody sends to everybody. Yes, indeed, time improves a great many things!

This Week's Tawasi Mail

First letter this week is from nine-year-old Bobby Kanngeisser, Lacombe.

Bobby says his problems are typing and arithmetic, but the letter was nicely typed just the same. He had the distinction (that's a long word, but it's a good one!) of being the first Tawasi to send in a Valentine—and a very nice one too. He spends his afternoons sliding down a pretty tricky hill and he has all the kids at school asking about the Tawasi Club. Get them to join Bobby—we'll put another blank in the paper soon, specially for your friends.

There are too many Tawasi members to get all their names in the paper, now though, Bobby—at Christmas we did it but our club is growing every day.

Got a nice letter from Phyllis Mulvey, with her application blank. Phyllis likes swimming, skating, reading mystery stories and doing the word game.

She is also interested in the shell game we wrote about. If they don't teach it in Wainwright, Phyllis, I can get the instructions typed out and will be very glad to send them to you—and to any others interested.

Just write to Ruth Barry, Tawasi Club, Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton.

Phyllis also says hello right back to Dennis Wilson of Lloydminster and late of Wainwright—he used to be in her room at school.

Colin Crumb's mother sent in an application for Colin's little sister Carol, 14 months old. She carries the milk in and gets her daddy's slippers, so she'll be a good Tawasi. Mrs. Crumb also likes the idea of a theme song and sent along the name of a little girl in England who would like to have a pen pal. We'll put it in the pen pal column.

Leonne Perrault brought her Valentine in personally and we had a chance to meet a very sincere Tawasi.

How to Make Creamy Fudge

How would you like to make a creamy chocolate fudge? This is just perfect for when you come in from skating and you don't quite feel like settling down to a quiet time and it's easy as anything.

You will need:

1 package chocolate pudding.
1 cup brown sugar.
1-3 cup milk.
Gob of butter the size of an egg.

Smooth the pudding, sugar and milk together so that there are no lumps. Cook over a medium low flame, stirring gently, until a drop in cold water forms a firm ball. Take off the heat, beat, add the butter, beat some more and there you are—it's as easy to make as it is to eat!

60 or More to Go

She's young now — only eight years old — with many years to live.

Her grandfather, by means of his Will, is setting up a trust fund to give her a lifetime income. To ensure continuous, experienced supervision of the fund he has named National Trust Company executor and trustee.

The success of any trust fund, whether established by will or by agreement, depends substantially upon uninterrupted attention by a trustee who does not grow old.

Steele Heads Labor Group

Receives Acclamation As President for 1949

Veteran city fireman Tom Steele was sick in bed Monday but proved 'strong" enough to win re-election as president of Edmonton Trades and Labor Council.

Steele was accorded an acclamation in voting for 1949 board of officers at the monthly Trades Council meeting.

Posts of vice-president and sergeant-at-arms were also filled through acclamations. Joseph Cherrington will continue as vice-president while Percy Williamson will again serve as sergeant-at-arms.

ELECTED TRUSTEES

Dave Erickson, Jack Flower and Wes Stanton were elected trustees for 1949.

Herbert G. Turner received an acclamation as secretary-treasurer. Mr. Turner is also president of the Alberta Federation of Labor. Past-president Sid Parsons completes the executive.

Obligation of the 1949 officers was taken by Carl E. Berg, vice-president of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress and delegate of Edmonton Laborers' Union.

In a brief address, following installation of officers, Mr. Berg predicted a membership of 5,000 in Trades Council affiliates by the end of the year.

MOVEMENT GROWING

"The Labor movement is growing in Edmonton," he said. Total membership of trades council affiliates was close to 4,500 at year's end.

Reporting for International Brotherhood of Teamsters Local 514, Dave Erickson said current dispute between the union and Marshall-Wells Alberta Ltd. will go to arbitration.

Efforts to conciliate a wage agreement for 1949 between the company and about 160 warehousemen, have failed, he told the council.

The union had sought an across-the-boards wage increase of $45 per month, but had finally agreed to accept $25. This proved unacceptable to the company, he said, and an arbitration board has been applied for.

ENDORSE MILK SUBSIDY

Council endorsed a resolution from the Calgary trades council which seeks a federal government subsidy on milk above 15 cents per quart.

Alberta Federation of Labor will be asked to give full consideration to the suggestion of Premier Ernest Manning of forming a joint labor-management-government committee to study proposed Labor legislative changes from time to time.

The question was raised by Mr. Berg, who said Premier Manning had expressed the hope such a committee might be set up so that legislative changes sought by either labor or management might be dealt with in a more orderly manner.

ON THE TOWN

By J. D.

A sweet-scented posie and three rousing British cheers go from this corner to Mayor Harry Ainlay for his stiff-lipped stand on hockey rowdyism at the Arena.

His Worship says that any more of this mass mayhem on skates may result in offending hockeyists serving penalties in a box with bars on the windows where the "time-keeper" reckons in months instead of minutes.

Personally, I like hockey a bit on the robust side. It's great to see the boys playing the game in deadly earnest and I think every red-blooded fan likes a few jarring body checks with his hockey.

I'm just primitive enough too for a second-hand thrill when a couple of players drop their sticks and toss a few punches at each other in good old Marquess of Queensbury style. Tickets to prize fights cost real money and sometimes a pair of warring pucksters stage a better fight than you'll see in a professional ring.

★ ★ ★

But I think Mayor Ainlay is right as rain about the danger of somebody getting killed when players start wielding those formidable ashen clubs.

Just why should hockey players, or athletes of any kind, enjoy immunity from prosecution, where deliberate assault with a "dangerous weapon" is committed during a game?

Of course some people will argue the players should be excused because they brandish their sticks during the heat and excitement of a hard-fought match. I think that's a lot of hooey.

What do you suppose would happen to you if you hit your bridge partner over the head with the piano stool for trumping your ace? I know a lot of bridge fanatics who become just as "excited" and "heated" as any Vic Myles, Doug Lane or Colin Kilburn.

Of course you know what would happen. The local constabulary would be pounding on your front door in jig-time, asking a lot of macabre questions about the position of the body and dusting the "death weapon" for finger prints.

I've been convinced at times that hitting the downstairs tenant over the head with a lead pipe is perfectly justified in law. What about the times he has the radio going full blast at 1 a.m. or is entertaining a few friends from Kalamazoo, Michigan at 4 a.m.

And you could try the lead pipe treatment, but where would you wind up? The answer is, of course, the local jail house.

The mayor's threat of police action against stick-wielding hockey players recalls an incident of the early 1930's.

The late Magistrate P. C. H. Primrose, laid charges of "fighting in public' against Gordon H. "Duke" Keats of Edmonton Eskimos and Ernie Anderson of the Calgary Tigers.

The case never went to trial, although both Keats and Anderson elected for hearing in the supreme criminal court. The Crown dropped the charges before the two players were scheduled to appear in the high court. If I remember correctly it was just an ordinary fist fight that Keats and Anderson staged.

As a matter of fact there wasn't much stick-fighting in the old Western Canada Professional hockey circuit. Keats, himself, was in a great many fights but I never remember the "Duke" cutting any player down with his stick.

I don't think hockey players have any legal right to swat each other with hockey sticks.

Remedy for 'Comicitis' Seen In More Attractive Books

Remedy for "comicitis," Edmonton Home and School Council was told at its meeting Monday night, is not denial but the offering of attractive books to suit the special needs and interests of children.

Speaker was Miss Grace McDonald, children's librarian at the Edmonton Public Library.

Attended by delegates from 18 of 21 locals of the association the meeting was held in the Public Library.

Reason for the comic book's popularity, Miss McDonald stated, is its eye appeal, particularly in its color; its low cost; action of its characters; ease in reading; serialization; tradeability; and the fact that is contributes to the gregarious nature of children.

SEEK ALTERNATIVE

Employing these characteristics she added, the Public library is trying to provide an alternative which will wean children away from the comic book.

In selecting books for the children's library, Miss McDonald told the meeting, an attempt is made to choose books that help develop a sense of art, are easy to read, are grammatically correct and offer something constructive.

Ten thousand Edmonton children now hold library cards, leaving a group of about 5,000 of those attending school who do not avail themselves f the library's facilities, Miss McDonald revealed.

OPPOSE MILK BOOST

A motion opposing any further increase in the price of milk was unanimously passed by the Council. If producers required some additional revenue to meet costs it was suggested some means other than a price increase should be found.

Endorsation was given the recommendation to increase the library grant to one and one-half mills in the city's 1949 estimates.

Report on the experiences of the King Edward Park Home and School local in parent education was given by F. C. Wingfield and a motion was carried instructing the Council executive to organize a series of speakers to continue the series on parent education at other Home and School locals.

THEY'RE AFRAID CITY MIGHT BE THOUGHT COLD

Edmonton's climate will be misrepresented if the Edmonton rugby team takes the name of Eskimos.

The Civics Committee of the Federation of Community Leagues decided to enter a protest against the adoption of the name Eskimos for the Edmonton entry in the Western Canadian Rugby Football Union.

Choice of name will be decided by the Touchdown Club when the 800 subscribers' list to the club has been completed.

School Guidance To Be Discussed

Guidance in its relation to schools will be discussed by W. P. Wagner, director of secondary education and guidance for the Edmonton public school board, when he addresses a meeting of the Alex Taylor home and school association Wednesday.

The meeting will be held at the school and will begin at 8 p.m.

Mr. Wagner's talk will be followed by a business and social session.

Three decrees nisi of divorce were granted in supreme court Monday afternoon by Mr. Justice Boyd McBride.

They were granted to Alice M. Hasenuick from William Hasenuick; Bertha Gray from Robert Gray, and Verna A. Levers from Ralph E. Levers.

Pensioners Plan Protest

Discrimination against native-born Canadians in applying for old age pensions will be protested to federal and provincial authorities by the Alberta Pensioners Society Incorporated.

A meeting on Monday night unanimously passed a resolution to this effect.

BASIS OF PROTEST

Protest is based on interpretation of instructions of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on applications for establishing proof of age when birth certificate is not available, as follows:

"Census records can be searched only when they are 30 years old in the case of Canadian born persons and 20 years old in the case of persons other than Canadian born."

Edward C. Fisher, president of the society, claimed that this was "unfair and unjustified discrimination against Canadians."

"It is strange that an alien who has given the best part of his life to a foreign country can come to Canada, and after 20 years without naturalization papers or birth certificate, can have access to census records of 1921 and 1926 to establish proof of age, while the native Canadian can not," declared Mr. Fisher.

CLAIMS BITTERNESS

Canadians, he said, felt bitter about this discrimination. He felt that regulations should apply to all alike.

"Parliament intended the needy should enjoy the benefits of the Old Age Pensions Act. It was never intended that officialdom should connive to rob the needy by rules and regulations violating the spirit of the act," said Mr. Fisher.

Community singing, led by Jack Jones, and motion pictures shown by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, rounded out the program.

Four To Contest Elmwood Park Queen Honors

Four teen-age girls of Elmwood Park Community League will contest carnival queen honors of the first annual winter ice carnival planned for that district.

The four carnival queen candidates are Audrey Jones, Marion McKay, Nora Lowe and Iris Nowell.

The carnval will also have several other features, including speed skating, fancy skating, community skating, costume competitions for the youngsters and mocasin dance.

Whole pepper can be stored as long as 100 years without deterioration, say experts, citing an example of such storage in a London warehouse.

Open Dump Is Protested

Protest against an open dump in the Cromdale area was voiced at a general meeting of the Cromdale Community League Monday night.

A letter will be forwarded to the city requesting immediate attention be given the matter.

The league also will protest the proposed plan to turn over some of the Borden Park area to the Exhibition Board for a midway. Members maintain that sawdust on the ground for even a week will ruin the chances for a good parkland or playground.

Since there is no playground east of Boyle street, application will be made to the recreation commission for a play lot in the Cromdale rink area.

Improved night-time bus service well be sought for residents living east of 95 street. A letter directed to Thomas Ferrier, superintendent of the Edmonton Street Railway, will demand that some of the buses coming in at night to the barns be re-routed by way of 79 street.

A special Netherlands committee is supervising the co-operation of states and privately-owned coal mines to improve conditions and production.

LABORITE MAKES DISCOVERY

Webster 'Tip' Definition May be Tax Loophole

The late Noah Webster may have "found" a loophole in Canada's tough income tax laws.

If so, then Joe Cherrington, vice-president of Edmonton Trades and Labor Council, should get credit for a great discovery.

Among other things, it will be recalled, Noah Webster wrote a dictionary. The tie-up between Webster and the income tax laws may be found in Webster's definition of the word "tip."

According to Webster a tip is "a gratuity as given to a servant."

Now Cherrington has been worried about stories that income tax officials are going to assess waiters, taxi drivers and other certain classes of workers 10 per cent of salaries to cover tips.

Reasoned Cherrington at a meeting of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council Monday:

"If the income tax department accepts Webster's definition of a tip, there's nothing to prevent all taxpayers from claiming $100 exemption for gratuities when tax returns are filed."

In more serious vein, Cherrington reported investigation has disclosed that income tax officials are dealing with each case on its own merits and have no intention of a blanket assessment of 10 per cent of salaries against classes of workers likely to receive tips.

City Homemakers Test Margarine

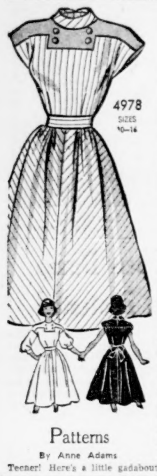
By Bea Thrifty

Well, girls! What think you of margarine?

Has husband given his seal of approval? Or are you running into difficulties on the home front.

I am lucky enough to have one of those benign husbands who is willing to give anything a whirl.

In this particular case, his opinion is that it's okay by him . . . and he doesn't mind the helping hand it gives the budget either. And what husband won't approve of this . . . with butter selling at 71c and margarine going at 45c.



Some difference what?

The month of February means much more than the distant promise of Spring, much more than Valentine's Day, much more than all that . . . it means a cold in the head for me.

Each February, following the annual song and dance of the groundhog . . . those dastardly little cold germs take a severe whack at me.

* * *

My nose is as red as the cherries on George Washington's favorite tree . . . and my eyes are rimmed to match. But fight on regardless . . . I say in a voice like a disgruntled frog . . . fight on . . .

* * *

But the time has come, like the Walrus said . . . to speak of many things . . . not ships . . . not seals, not sealing wax . . . but yes . . . cabbages and kings.

And there is a cabbage dish fit for a king.

Creamed cabbage sounds like food for peasants if any food ever did. But tender green cabbage, cooked not too well but wisely and served with a smooth white sauce and garnished with celery seed and grated cheese . . . Believe me it is good.

And I am anything but a cabbage enthusiast.

* * *

Tasted tree-ripe olives from California today. And must say they certainly were a treat.

Nice that we can buy the big ripe ones now . . . at a nominal fee of course. I paid 47c for a small jar just the other day. Too bad for the budget when I get a craving for olives.

* * *

I read something very strange and funny in a magazine today. It was a spot of advice to street-car riders.

It advocated doing stomach exercises to make use of time wasted travelling to and from the office.

* * *

I sw'ar if I see anyone flexing their muscles all over the crowded streetcar I will gladly pay 25c for three rides . . . just for the entertainment.

* * *

But to more serious things and a word of passed-on wisdom about the heavenly blessing of a lip brush.

There are many young'uns just starting to use lip rouge and many oldsters who've had the habit a long time . . . who just can't seem to apply the lipstick evenly.

* * *

By the by . . . you can use those old tubes of rouge up also. The brush will dip into them and use the very last speck . . . So it is a 75c remarkably well-spent.

WHY GROW OLD

Exercises Improve Unshapely Limbs

By Josephine Lowman

Q. "I would like to have an exercise which will firm my upper and lower legs. Just one, please!"

A. Deep Knee bends are splendid for this. Bend the knees all the way down, raising the heels from the floor as you do so. Be certain to keep your back straight.

Do NOT bend at the waist. Straighten your legs and return your feet to the floor. Repeat fifteen times in the morning and fifteen times at night. You can increase this later on. If you cannot keep your trunk erect place one hand on a chair or on the wall, for balance.

Q. "I read your column all the time. Please tell me if I need to lose weight and where. I am 5 feet, 7 inches tall, and have a large bony structure, weighing 147 pounds. My bust measures 36 inches, waist 28 inches, and hips 41½ inches."

A. NO. You are not overweight. You might lose five pounds, but certainly no more. However your hips are out of proportion and you should lose two and a half inches there, through exercise.

Q. "I am fifteen and weigh 106 pounds. I am five feet tall. My bust measures 32½ inches, waist 22 inches, and hips 32½ inches. Am I in proportion and please give me an exercise for flattening my abdomen."

A. You are beautiful, just about perfect, in weight and in measurements. Here is the exercise: Lie on your back with your legs straight and your arms stretched out on the floor overhead. Raise your trunk and touch your fingertips to your toes. Lower your trunk and return arms to overhead position. Take time to stretch out on the floor making yourself as long as possible. Continue. If this is too hard at first tuck your toes under a chair or a divan.

Q. "I wonder if you would tell me what is wrong with my hair? I eat a well-balanced diet but my hair is too oily and thin. I am twenty-four years old and the mother of three. I wash my hair every week and it is oily within three days afterward. I use an oil shampoo."

A. Your life is probably pretty complex with three young children. I hope you get enough relaxation and sleep and outdoors. Nervousness and strain can be contributing causes. Add vitamin B complex tablets to your daily routine. Indulge in scalp massage, and use a good tonic to correct the oily condition.

Q. "I am fourteen years old. My waist measures 25¾ inches, and my bust is 31 inches. Is my bust large enough? My mother doesn't thing so."

A. To be in proportion, your waist is too large for your bust or your bust is too small for your waist, whichever it really is, and I guess it is a little of both! However, I imagine this is mainly a problem of age. Girls vary greatly as to the age of physical maturity and I believe you will slim down through the waist and develope through the bust during the next few years. However, if you want to give nature a boost, take bust developing and waist slimming exercises.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Thoughtful Persons Avoid Unkind Remarks

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Kind and thoughtful persons would not be guilty of stabbing a child with mean remarks or of ignoring him or her, in a situation which would leave life-long scars.

Apparently, there are persons just this thoughtless and unkind and they do not deserve much consideration. One mother wrote that she felt real embarrassment when some of her friends admired and complimented her younger daughter and ignored the older one. "My younger daughter is a blond and very pretty, the older one is a brunette and is quite thin and lanky looking. My friends are always making remarks that are cruelly disparaging to this older child. How shall I handle this?"

In the first place, why regard the feelings of persons whose own are so blunted? You needn't even be polite. Simply fill in what they have forgotten to say by countering their compliments with pointed remarks about the obvious accomplishments and physical qualities of the older child.

You may say, "Oh both children have their superiorities. The younger has her natural curls and dimples; the older her lovely smile and pretty teeth."

If this doesn't make their faces red and inspire them to mend their manners, then don't hesitate to suggest that they refrain from complimenting one unless they remember the other.

Parents themselves are not always thoughtful about praise for their children. They may refrain from praising a child because they fear that compliments will make him or her conceited. Sometimes, they hope to improve a child's behavior or spur him to greater tidiness or cleanliness by complimenting some other child at his expense.

Honest, sincere praise never harmed any child. Since no two children get equal prizes in the hereditary grab-bag, it needs some knowing adult to help the child to endure what he did get by pointing out his compensating superiorities.

It takes so little to make a child happy or sad, but the influence of his emotions may make their mark on him for life.

Our leaflet No. 78 "Help To Be Had From Books", may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

India Gives Women Equality With Men

GWALIOR, India, Feb. 7.—(CP)—Inaugurating the 21st session of the All-India Women's Conference at Gwalior, the Maharaja of Gwalior said that India was ahead of most western countries so far as women in India had never had to fight for their rights.

In the new constitution of India they had been given complete equality with men.

Mrs. Y. Mehta in her presidential address advised the conference to concentrate on social work and on the training of their sisters for motherhood.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Husband's Duty To Provide for Family

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am married to a fine man and love him dearly. He makes a very small salary, but we could get along very nicely except that he is an easy mark for every grafter in our town.

Everybody borrows money from him and they never repay it. Hence, we are always broke.

I would like so much tohave a little home of our own, but we can never manage to save a cent toward buying one.

I have begged my husband to tighten his grip on his pocketbook, but it is useless. What can I do about it?

YVONNE H.

Answer: I don't know, unless you can make your husband see how unfair he is to you, and that his first duty is to you.

But I thing that it is doubtful that he will listen to reason, because that kind of man not only lacks backbone enough to say no, but also usually is an egotist who likes to pose as free-handed and generous.

He gets a kick out of the fact that he is a sort of big man, a moneyed man to whom those without money come to borrow.

A lot of philanthropy is just self-glorification. I know plenty of men, like your husband, who let their families go without the things they need so that they can maintain their reputation as liberal men by always being ready to lend a few dollars to anyone who asks them.

PRIMARY DUTY

Charity begins at home and no man has a right to give to his relatives or lend money to his friends until he has comfortably provided for the wife and children for whom he is responsible.

DO GUMS BLEED? then watch out for PYORRHEA

Often Results In Loose Teeth and Poor Health

If your gums are sore and bleed when you brush your teeth—this is often the first sign of dreaded Pyorrhea, a bad gum infection where gums recede, pus sockets form around teeth and in time teeth get loose and have to be pulled.

So, see your dentist and start using Forhan's for the gums at once. Forhan's not only makes teeth gleam with a beautiful sparkling lustre, it also checks bleeding gums, helps gums be firmer with a lovely healthy pinkness. Notice the difference in the way your gums and teeth soon feel and look. Recommended by Dentists.

Spring Bouquets Bank St. Stephen's Altar

Spring bouquets of jonquils, narcissus and tulips decorated the altar of St. Stephen's Chapel for the wedding Saturday evening of Elsie Jean Dodds and Leslie J. Lorenson.

Quiet ceremony, performed by Rev. Gerald A. Larue, united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Dodds, of Edmonton, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lorenson, of Lindbergh, Alberta.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an afternoon frock of soft blue crepe, with matching feather hat and accessories. Her ensemble was complemented by a corsage of yellow roses and split white carnations, and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Miss Rae Dodds was her sister's only attendant. She wore a claret toned dress, with grey accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Charles Rault, and John Dodds, brother of the bride, ushered the guests.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. B. Ramsay, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Mary Broadhead sang "Because."

Home of the bride's parents was the scene of a reception following the ceremony, when the mother of the bride assisted in receiving the 45 guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dodds chose an afternoon frock of soft rose figured crepe, with pink gloves and hat and a corsage of roses.

Three-tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table, which was laid with a handmade lace cloth and decorated with low bowls of spring flowers and white tapers.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. L. M. Smith, Mrs. George Hill, Mrs. H. E. Mather and Mrs. K. Hong.

Bridal toast was proposed by W. N. Lawson.

Later, the bride changed to a grey suit, with navy blue accessories. Corsage of roses and violets was pinned to her mink jacket.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenson are making their home in Edmonton.

Dress Up Last Season's Suit

PARIS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Last Year's dress or suit will do very well in the Easter parade.

But it will need the moral support of a new straw bowler or boater hat perched on the back of your head.

If you can muster a long stole, you'll really be up to the minute.

A return to the classic suit was seen Saturday when three top-flight designers unveiled their spring fashions.

Molyneux, Jacques Heim and Raphael, the master suit-maker, showed suits with longish jacket peplums that hugged the hips, even though waists remained extremely well defined.

But on dressier suits they follow other designers and play tricks with peplums, generally making them look hippy by drapery, intricate folds or jutting pockets.

Husbands Try Furnishing Cozy Room

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP)—If wives want their husbands to stay home nights, they should let them furnish at least one room of the home—a cozy, informal spot furnished with plenty of unbreakables.

That seemed to be the opinion of eight prominent men-about-town who selected furniture for "the room I'd like to stay home in" at a department-store showing here today.

There wasn't a period piece or cluttered corner in the lot. But there were plenty of bizarre touches such as potted lemon trees, impressionistic paintings and walls which invite charcoal doodling.

A man likes to be surrounded by the things he loves—his work and particular hobbies.

POURING TEA at the Museum of Arts this afternoon was Mrs. E. W. S. Kane. She assisted at the Valentine tea held by the Women's Society of the Museum.

New Silhouette Of '49 Fashion Makes Entrance

PARIS, Feb. 8—(AP)—Fashion experts say the billowing skirt and tightly encased bodice will be spotlighted when Paris designers unveil their spring collections this week.

Foreign buyers are converging on Paris. During the next three weeks more than a score of top-ranking fashion houses, and many smaller houses will raise the curtain on the models created during the winter.

Full skirts are expected to share honors with the already popular 1948 pencil-slim ahillouette. This will probably be modified to allow gracious movement.

A compromise between these two main outlines, which will take the form of a "cone" skirt, is expected on a small scale.

Waistlines are expected to be strictly 1949—extremely tight and placed at the natural level.

Hemlines will retreat to around 13 or 14 inches from the ground.

IODE Chapter Elects Mrs. Hamilton Regent

Mrs. Margaret Hamilton was re-elected regent of Countess of Bessborough Chapter, IODE, at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. R. W. Roscoe.

Mrs. T. G. Derrington was elected first vice-regent; Mrs. Roscoe, second vice-regent; Mrs. H. L. Sheppard, secretary; Miss M. Reid, treasurer.

Educational convener reported that a library was given to the chapter's adopted school and that treats were supplied at closing exercises and at Christmas.

Chapter's adopted family was visited with donations of groceries, meat and milk.

Donations were made to Camp Elizabeth and provincial welfare study funds.

Visits were made and hampers sent to Col. Mewburn Pavilion, St. Joseph's hospital and ex-servicemen at old Immigration hall. Members also visited blind persons and sent hampers to them at Christmas.

During the year, contributions were made to municipal scholarships and bursaries. Hampers were sent to a needy family in Britain and nursery bags to the Queen Elizabeth hospital.

Members assisted in Community Chest and Blind drives and held a rummage sale, a bazaar and sold tickets for a turkey dinner.

Others elected at the meeting were: Mrs. P. P. Griffith, educational secretary; Miss J. Laidlaw, Echoes secretary; Mrs. G. Stranger, standard bearer; Mrs. J. Pawley, Mrs. J. L. Green and Mrs. E. Thompson, councillors.

Mrs. A. Donald, post-war service; Mrs. Strange, child welfare; Mrs. L. R. Melvin, ex-service personnel; Mrs. A. Hayward, Empire study; Mrs. C. C. Young, press; Mrs. K. M. Henry, flowers; Mrs. Roscoe, blind; Mrs. H. Brown, hospitality; Miss M. Reid, co-ordinating; Mrs J. E. Robinson, social.

Even Sackcloth Goes In the 'Look '49' Now

PARIS, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Women can even wear sackcloth and be fashionable this spring.

Although there is nothing revolutionary about "look '49," Jacques Fath has come up with a new idea in materials. Among the dresses he showed here last night was a full skirted strapless cocktail dress of sackcloth.

It was not the sackcloth of Biblical days—dark cloth of goat's or camel's hair—worn as a sign of pennance with ashes on the forehead. It was cotton sackcloth, and what's more the bodice was heavily encrusted with gold and sequin embroidery.

The dress had a gold serpentskin belt and was topped with a white waffle pique bellhop jacket.

Another little sackcloth number was a thigh-length full ruffle coat studded with almond nutshells and raffia embroidery.

Last night's show rounded off the opening day of the fashion showings. In coming weeks, about 20 "big name" designers will unveil their spring creations.

AFL Preparing Blast For Canadian Reds

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor's executive council is reported drafting a statement blasting the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress for harboring Communists or Communist sympathizers in Canadian unions.

AFL President William Green told reporters a three-man council committee is preparing a statement for approval at today's council session. He said it will outline recommendations for eliminating pro-Soviet men from the Canadian TLC.

The council is nearing an end of its winter meeting and probably will adjourn today.

In the discussions of the Canadian labor situation, Percy Bengough, president of the TLC, and Frank Hall, its vice-president and head of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks in Canada, both appeared before the council.

HALL LAYS CHARGE

Hall charged the TLC with being too inactive in weeding Red sympathizers out of the TLC. The Council was reported to have asked Bengough to take a more militant stand but he is reported to have declined to make any specific promise.

Several Council members said privately that, as a result, the AFL will sharply criticize the TLC in a statement and call for prompt action in eliminating Communist influences.

Baby Bandit Is Sentenced

VANCOUVER, Feb. 8.—(CP)—George Wiles, 17, one of the so-called baby bank bandits yesterday was sentenced to two years in penitentiary and 10 strokes of the paddle.

He pleaded guilty to the Dec. 4 robbery of the Granville St. branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. The loot totalled $1,600.

Wiles was identified as the youth, armed with a toy gun and disguised by a false moustache, who staged the robbery, and then fled to Toronto.

Suicide Tries Fail

GODERICH, Ont., Feb. 8.—(CP)—Marjorie Williams, 21, was charged with attempted suicide Moonday after she allegedly swallowed poison and then walked in front of a train Saturday. Engineer T. Schaus said he saw the girl in time and braked the train to a stop before it hit her. She was taken to hospital in London, 50 miles south of here, and successfully treated for poisoning.

Tot Loses Life In Home Fire

RENNIE, Man., Feb. 8.—(CP)—A nine-months-old boy lost his life and his 29-year-old father is in serious condition in hospital with burns suffered during the week-end in a coal oil fire which destroyed a converted box car used by the family as a home.

Dead is Ronald McKenzie, whose father, Clarence McKenzie, was taken to hospital in Winnipeg. Rennie is 75 miles east of Winnipeg.

Mrs. McKenzie and her two sons, Billie, 3, and Bobbie, 22 months, escaped their blazing four-room home in night attire. The mother smashed a window and jumped to safety after first lowering her two children to the ground.

Veterans' Costs $1,700,000,000

Second War Care Total Equals 1914-18 Outlay

By Douglas How

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Canada now has spent as much to rehabilitate and care for her veterans of the Second World War as she spent to fight the first one.

That striking parallel has never been officially compiled or proclaimed but it can be found in the mountains of statistics that record the financial side of wars and their aftermaths.

$130 FOR EACH CITIZEN

The figure the finance department gives for the cost to Canada of the first war is $1,696,000,000, covering munitions, equipment, pay, food, etc. By March 31, the costs of rehabilitation, pensions, hospital treatment and other phases of the program unfolded after the second war will be beyond $1,700,000,000, or an average of more than $130 for every Canadian.

Towering far above them both is the figure of between $18,000,000,000 and $19,000,000,000 which the finance department gives as the cost of the second war. When it is remembered that the costs of military equipment and manpower have taken another husky rise since 1945, the prospective bill for any third outbreak can only be shuddered at.

STILL TO RISE

Second war rehabilitation will probably be beyond $2,000,000,000 by 1950.

The big individual rehabilitation items have been war service gratuities costing $469,000,000, re-establishment credits of $236,000,000 and other benefits such istration of the department since it was set up in 1944 has amounted to $52,000,000 and now runs around $1,000,000 a month.

Hospital costs, including new construction and treatment, have run to $247,000,000 since 1945 but some of those costs involve first war men. The bill for the veterans' land act which has settled thousands of men on farms and small holdings is an estimated $214,000,000.

Gas Meters Ruled Taxable By City

CALGARY, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Gas meters installed in city homes and other buildings since 1928 will be subject to taxes by the city of Calgary, Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald ruled in Supreme Court today.

The judgment was the outcome of an action by the city against the gas company.

Civic officials said the decision should add "several thousand dollars" to city revenue.

The court ruled that the value of the gas meters should be added to company's assessable property in the city.

Murder Attempt Trial Opens in Lethbridge

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 8.—(CP)—The bullet that struck Miss Helen Sobuliak in the shoulder during a shooting in a north Lethbridge home last Dec. 16, was spent in the opinion of Dr. J. D. McCutcheon. He testified in Supreme Court here yesterday in the trial of Antoni Szulc, charged with the attempted murder of Miss Sobuliak.

Previously, Dr. McCutcheon had told the court of being called to a residence last Dec. 16 to find several people in an agitated condition. One of those persons—Mrs. Helen Tillack—was sitting on the floor apparently wounded.

He said he dressed the wound and sent Mrs. Tillack to hospital. Also in the group was Miss Sobuliak who had a wound, similar to a bruise, on the right shoulder.

AT DANCE

Taking the stand, Mrs. Tillack told the court that the first time she had seen the accused was at a dance that night.

The accused had just one dance with Miss Sobuliak then she and Miss Sobuliak left the dance hall about midnight. The accused had followed them to Mrs. Tillack's home. Mrs. Tillack said she left Miss Sobuliak and Szulc outside.

Within a few minutes, Miss Sobuliak came into the house and asked Mrs. Tillack to waken up her brother, John Duda, she said. Szulc then knocked at the back door and walked into the house. Mrs. Tillack testified that she had requested the accused to go away and return some other time, but Szulc had said no he wanted to see Miss Sobuliak.

RESERVES PLEA

Both Miss Sobuliak and the accused had then gone outside. A few minutes later, Mrs. Tillack told the court, she heard Miss Sobuliak scream. Upon opening the back door she had seen Miss Sobuliak in a crouched position with the accused holding a gun to Miss Sobuliak's temple.

The gun never went off, Mrs. Tillack testified.

Earlier Szulc pleaded innocent to the charge of attempted murder but reserved plea on a second count of wounding Mrs. Tillack.

SCHOOL ISSUES TOWELS

The Girls Have Showers But Want More Privacy

UTICA, N.Y., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Fifty girls at Utica Free Academy who objected to what they called the "immodesty" of their new "gang shower" today received a three-fold answer from school officials:

1. No girl shall be required to take a shower after gymnasium workouts, although all will be "encouraged" to do so.

2. Those who object to showering along with other girls may wait for privacy. (Fourteen minutes are allowed between gym classes and other classes.)

3. The school will issue its 36-inch-by-18-inch towels before the girls undress, so that they won't need to walk in the nude from the lockers to the showers.

The Academy recently built a new gymnasium and, with it, the shower room to accommodate 17 girls at a time.

But the 50 found it "immodest" and called a mass meeting last week in protest.

Alleged Robber Held By Police

VANCOUVER, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Police last night said they were holding an unidentified 48-year-old man who alleged he was wanted in Sarnia, Ont., for the Nov. 5 robbery of a $2,000 payroll.

They said the man, who described himself as a bookkeeper, gave himself up yesterday. They made no other announcements pending a check with Sarnia police.

6.9 Per Cent Called Fair Capital Return

CALGARY, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Dr. J. Rhodes Foster of New Jersey, a United States public utility investments and regulations expert, testified yesterday that a fair and allowable return to the Canadian Western Natural Gas Company on its investment in property was about 6.9 per cent.

Mr. Foster made the statement before the Alberta Board of Public Utilities Commissioners. He was called by the company to give evidence before the board on the gas company's application for an unstated increase in the rates charged consumers of natural gas on the company's system in southern Alberta.

The United States expert said a fair return to the gas company on its $11,369,000 property investment would be about $782,000 a year.

OLD TIME INVESTMENTS

He said a return allowance of $782,000 was required to provide the returns which investors in Canada Western reasonably expected at the time the old investments were originally made.

Dr. Foster explained that this estimate of the fair return was in dollars of past purchasing power and was, therefore, on a prudent investment basis of rate regulation. It gave no consideration to important economic changes such as the present relative shortage of equity capital and the decline in the purchasing power of money.

DEPRECIATION RESERVE

He said that the depreciation reserve should not be deducted in determining a past cost rate base, since deduction of the reserve would deny to investors any compensation "for the risks unavoidably assumed by them in connection with that part of the investment in use and useful utility plant, and which is made by use of depreciation funds."

He said "a free enterprise system cannot be made to work unless those who take the risk of loss are allowed to receive an adequate compensation for such risk taking."

Dr. Foster asserted that the compensation to investors on account of the risks assumed in company use of depreciation funds should be limited to 4.75 per cent. The $782,000 was arrived at by taking 8.5 per cent on the total investment in property used in providing natural gas service and deducting a credit to consumers equal to 3.75 per cent of the depreciation reserve.

Doctors said the dog tore a piece, four by six inches, out of his scalp and lacerated his cheek. Doctors grafted new skin on his head and stitched up his cheek.

Four and a Half Million Canadians Own Life Insurance

Says President Mutual Life of Canada

Encouragement of Thrift Essential in Sound National Policy

Mutual Life Record Outstanding Example of Value of Independence Created Through Personal Effort

Reviews Outlook for Canadians

Waterloo, Ont., February 3rd.

"Freedom has been experienced in widest degree in those countries where men have earned their security by their own efforts," declared Mr. Louis L. Lang, President of The Mutual Life of Canada, when addressing the 79th Annual Meeting of policyholders of the Company today. He emphasized that the results of the Company's operations for the policyholders are a very pointed example of the social and economic security which can be obtained through the initiative of free men in a free society.

When dealing with world affairs Mr. Lang expressed the opinion that, although the prospects of avoiding a third world war are becoming brighter, all nations must be well prepared. "We must protect our lives, our liberties and our possessions, and this cannot be done without paying the price in thought, effort and money," he said.

Mr. Lang foresaw continued high production in Canada, the heavy backlog of orders in many lines precluding the likelihood of any serious downswing in the production trend of consumer goods; but, as production increases, the hunt for new markets for Canadian products will in time become more intensive.

A practical and humanitarian interest in world affairs, stabilization of wages and salaries, economy in government, expenditures, and a continuous emphasis on the value of thrift, were some of the essentials of wise Canadian policy advocated by Mr. Lang.

Speaking specifically of the progress of The Mutual Life of Canada, he pointed out that the 111 million dollars paid to policyholders in dividends since 1869 were equivalent to 20% of the total premiums received, these refunds reducing substantially the cost of protection and constituting convincing evidence of the Company's low net cost record.

A condensation of Mr. Lang's address, and the address delivered by Mr. A. E. Pequegnat, General Manager, who commented on the Annual Statements, follow:

Mr. Louis L. Lang
President

Large Percentage of Population Owns Life Insurance

Ownership of nearly $13 billion of life insurance by some 4½ million Canadians is convincing proof of the very important place occupied by the institution of life insurance in the social and economic structure of our nation. Basically, there are three major functions performed by a life insurance company: the gathering together of small sums from a large number of people into a common fund to provide protection against the hazards of death and to accumulate savings for old age, the husbanding of these funds through safe and nationally productive investments; and, at the needful time, their distribution to policyholders' beneficiaries or to living policyholders. The efficiency and economy with which these three major functions are performed measure the contribution of the life insurance industry to the nation.

The history of The Mutual Life is truly "A Romance of Co-operation." The story of the results of the Company's operations is before you today. The individual co-operative method illustrated by the successful record of our Company, Canada's original mutual, is in sharp contrast to that envisioned by the "cradle to the grave" philosophy which involves Government financial support in huge amounts and saddles the productive workers with the dead weight of burdensome taxation.

High Returns to Policyholders

In the seventy-nine years since this Company was formed, over $374 Million has been distributed to policyholders and beneficiaries. $112 Million was paid in death benefits; the balance of $262 Million was paid to living policyholders. $111 Million consisted of dividends—refunds of portions of premium payments which served to reduce substantially the cost of protection. These dividends are equivalent to 20% of the total premiums received.

Size, in itself, is not a principal objective of our Company. Through the years our fundamental functions and principles of operation have remained the same. We have grown because there has been a real need for our product, and the public has found it good.

Security Attained Through Individual Effort

The size of totals presented today is a very pointed example of the social and economic security which can be obtained through the initiative of free men in a free society. To obtain security for themselves and their dependents and yet, at the same time, to remain free, is the goal of men in the greater part of the world. Whenever the individual has turned to the state for security, loss of freedom has been the result. Freedom has been experienced in widest degree in those countries where men have earned their security by their own efforts. If the state were saddled with the contractual obligations of the life insurance enterprise, regimentation of the individual with loss of freedom would surely follow.

Insurance in Force Reaches Billion Mark

The year 1948 was more than just another year for The Mutual Life of Canada; it was a year of memorable achievement. It represents the milestone of a Billion Dollars of Insurance in Force. The provision of economic security to such a large family of policyholders and their beneficiaries did not just happen. It has been said many times that insurance is not bought—it has to be sold. In 1948 insurance protection was extended by this Company to citizens of Canada and Newfoundland at the rate of more than Two Million Dollars per week. This was accomplished by a sales force of 682 full-time and 275 part-time representatives—trained men and women approaching daily thousands of citizens in all walks of life, in all parts of Canada, discussing their financial needs and arranging insurance programs to meet in the best possible manner the insurance needs of the individual.

World Outlook

There are many dark places in the world today. Asia, with half the world population, is in dire straits; the northern parts of Africa are in a state of confusion. Russia and her satellites occupy a part of the world which is isolated from the rest of the world by a land of mystery, from which little information comes; conditions in Western Europe, although far below normal, continue to improve. The danger of war, which was serious last summer, has diminished and prospects of avoiding a third world war are becoming brighter. Communism in Western Europe is waning. These facts are mentioned because we must continue to be vitally interested in world affairs.

Production Increases Will Require New Markets

Because of conditions existing in Asia and Eastern Europe, a great part of the world is isolated from other parts. There is great need in all these curtained areas for enormous supplies of manufactured goods, food and other necessities, but they are partly or completely closed to the producers, merchants and businessmen of other countries who could supply some of these needs. For the time being, the [illegible] such shortages in the great producing countries that there are few surplus problems at home but as production increases this situation will be more intensive. Canadians are compelled to take a practical, as well as a humanitarian interest in world problems.

It is clear that those who want peace and wish to avoid war must submit to sacrifices in order to restore the military forces of the democratic nations to a point where any combination of other nations will refrain from attack, and this standard of preparedness must be maintained regardless of cost or personal effort involved.

Business Expansion in Canada

The steady growth in production, national income, trade, capital development and employment in Canada during the past three years has been remarkable. There has been an immense market during the past three years for all that we in Canada and the United States can grow and make. Nevertheless, North America cannot sustain and supply the rest of the world indefinitely, and it should be our aim to assist stricken countries to recover and to resume their natural places in the economy of the world.

Canadian Outlook for 1949

Much of our economy will be dependent upon conditions outside our own boundries and beyond our control. Activity in important capital goods industries is still high—any appreciable slowing-down which has been apparent being in consumer goods. This may result in competitive markets to a greater extent than has been experienced in the recent past, a condition which will be welcomed by people hard-pressed by prevailing high prices. The importance of maintaining production at the highest possible levels in all fields is apparent in that production and national income are the foundation of our present standards and conditions, providing the base for all improvement and development.

Further Wage Increases Unwise

There have recently been some indications of lower prices, leading to the hope that the cost of living may be stabilizing or turning downward. The earnings of corporations and other businesses considered in the light of their purchasing power, have been just as greatly affected by high costs as has been the housewife. [illegible] If our competitive position in world markets is to be retained, the importance of arresting unreasonable demands for higher incomes is evident. If met, they can only result in delay in the lowering of prices, or even encourage the continuance of the upward trend. New buildings, machinery and the cost of finding markets and many other factors must come out of reserves and profits or progress will be diminished and in some cases, stopped. In the long run, it is safer policy to accept reasonable wages and salaries in order to permit the accumulation of reasonable reserves to carry productive enterprise through those periods when profits are low or non-existent and to diminish unemployment should markets shrink than to demand and secure all earnings for present division and consumption.

Encouragement of Thrift Essential

A great portion of our tax burden is the result of the interest on the national debt [illegible] a definite factor in all tax bills; there is an increasing demand from citizens for increased social services and capital expenditures. Improvement in social services is commendable, but a country should not go in debt for more than it can afford [illegible] can destroy our economy. In the long run the Government has no money except what it takes from the people in the form of taxes. Money diverted to unproductive, although necessary purposes leaves so much less for investment in the expansion of enterprises in all the great fields of endeavor, which, when developed, create more employment and provide larger incomes for the people in all parts of the country. Those between approximately twenty and seventy years of age, who are actually working and earning, support and provide for all others, including children, the aged, the afflicted and the unemployed. This is a continuous problem. Thrift must be encouraged in a sound national policy.

Accomplishments Through Free Enterprise

Canada, in spite of some state ownership and control, is still overwhelmingly a free enterprise country. Canadians recognize that governments have their duties in some particular fields of operation, which cannot be delegated to private citizens, but the great majority remember that free enterprise and adventure developed the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States and wish to maintain, improve and expand the system which produced such unparalleled results in these two leading world political, economic and social organizations.

It has been said, but it cannot be repeated too often, that the greatest asset of Canadians is their faith and character. Faith and character have helped them to build the Canada of today, and will help them to prepare for and meet the problems of the future. The same [illegible] Mutual Life. A company that has the inspiration of seventy-nine years of progressive management, the benefits of which have been shown so consistently in its results, can be expected to prosper in the years to come.

Statements Analyzed by Mr. A. E. Pequegnat, General Manager

Mr. A. E. Pequegnat
General Manager

Mr. Pequegnat, when referring to the life insurance written in Canada pointed out that the aggregate life insurance coverage of Canadians is the equivalent of the national income for one year. He urged that Canadians consider the lower purchasing power of the dollar today as compared with 10 years ago when arranging their insurance programmes.

The average size policy issued by The Mutual Life has risen from $2886 in 1946 to [illegible] in 1948.

Forty per cent of the Company's business is placed on the lives of existing policyholders.

Mr. Pequegnat pointed out that the Company is pleased to be writing a substantial volume of new insurance for moderate individual amounts [illegible] their life insurance programmes.

He emphasized the value of insurance [illegible] provide income for later years as compared with [illegible] ance.

Low Lapse Rate

Mr. Pequegnat reported that the lapse rate of The Mutual Life of Canada is outstanding on the North American continent.

Improvement in Mortality

The results of the past year indicate that the economic functions of the nation are finding their stabilization on a new plane. While earnings on the investments of life [illegible]

In 1948 the [illegible] the savings [illegible] $2,111,000 [illegible] pany. Last year the ratio stood at almost the same rate, 46.34%, but the corresponding mortality saving on the larger coverage was $2,347,000. The average ratio for the ten-year period, which include all war [illegible]

Interest Earnings

This generally favorable mortality experience was offset to some degree by a continuing decline in interest earnings. In 1938 interest earnings exceeded the Company's policy liabilities by $2,226,000. In 1948 this excess interest [illegible] item stood at approximately $2 Million on investments almost [illegible] The average rate earned on the Company's invested assets, which stood at 4.68% in 1938, declined to 3.80% in 1948. However, the decline for the past year was but .04% as compared with .12% the previous year and .31% the year prior, thus indicating that the bottom of the declining curve has been reached. This is further substantiated by the trend of average rate of earnings [illegible] decade. In 1938 the rate realized on the bond investments of the year was 3.55%. This declined steadily to 2.88% in 1947, [illegible] in 1948 increased to 3.12%. Combining all types of new investments, the rates were 4.12% in 1938 and 4.25% in 1948, with the low in 1945 of 3.31%.

Mortgage Loan Investments Increase

The holding of Dominion bonds declined during the year [illegible] $9,200,000 and now represents 50 [illegible] of the Company's assets, rather than 56.6% at the beginning of the year. This decline is offset by an increase in provincial and municipal bonds of $11,800,000 and public utility and industrial bonds of $7,350,000, a gross increase in bond investments of some $10 Million.

Mortgage loan investments increased by over $11 Million, to a total of $[illegible] representing [illegible] a year ago. These mortgage loans are largely residential properties and a substantial proportion is supported by the guarantees available in the several categories of the National Housing Act. Not only has the Company made a distinct and widely [illegible] contribution to the acute housing requirements of our nation, but our policyholders also benefit thereby through the higher interest return available on this type of investment.

Surplus Earnings and Reserves

The Surplus Earnings of the Company last year amounted to $[illegible], an increase over the previous year of $[illegible]. Of this amount $[illegible] was allotted [illegible] policyholders [illegible] credit, leaving an amount of $[illegible] to be added to the Unassigned Surplus [illegible] which now stands at $14,214,300. Additional reserves of over $5,900,000 are maintained to provide for fluctuations in the value of securities. While these contingency funds may appear substantial, they represent but 6.21% of total assets, which is not an excessive margin of security when one considers the violent fluctuation of security values which occurred within the memory of most of us.

New Dividend Scale

Some months ago the basis of surplus distribution for 1949 was determined, and it is gratifying that the results of the year's operations, [illegible] permitted the earlier estimates. The new scale provides slightly increased dividends except at the higher ages and longer policy durations, but in no case will the 1949 dividend be less than that paid in 1948. The new scale should prove highly satisfactory to all policyholders, especially in comparison with the surplus distributed by our strongest competitors, and we trust that it will be possible to continue dividends to our members on this scale for some years to come.

Value of Sound and Systematic Saving

The personal income of Canadians [illegible] Savings [illegible] thrift [illegible] of the income of Canadians is being devoted to savings in the form of life insurance, and 10% is looked upon by the best budget analysts as the objective for an adequate life insurance programme.

Importance of Life Underwriters

In these days of social unrest, [illegible] security without sacrificing the heritage of democratic freedom which is theirs. Viewed from any angle—social, economic, individual contentment, family security, community or nation building, life insurance is [illegible] the satisfaction and peace of mind which comes from adequate life insurance will never turn to socialism.

Tribute to Staff

The quality of service tendered our policyholders by our staff members, on which the Company's splendid reputation through Canada has been established, must be credited to our more than nine hundred salaried employees at Home Office and in our fifty-seven Branch Offices, [illegible] and more Field Representatives who make daily contact with our great Mutual Family. On behalf of the Executive Officers of the Company, I wish, in this public way, to pay tribute to these loyal members of our official family, Senior Officers, Branch Managers, Department Supervisors, Branch Secretaries, Senior Clerks, Stenographers and others who have combined to provide an administration which, for efficiency, economy and character, has given an eminent place to our company in the life insurance companies of Canada.

TRACTORS

The shipping strike is over, the equipment unloaded and in our yards now, ready for your inspection. Late model equipment, in good shape, shows very little use.
Our advice to you is—see this equipment before the Eastern buyers move in. Whether you want one tractor or 10—see us NOW.

26,000 Catholics Protest Trial Of Mindszenty

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—At least 26,000 British Catholics attended protest meetings in Albert Hall and elsewhere in London last night against the trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary.

More than 6,000 jammed Albert Hall to capacity to hear an indictment of the trial by the Most Rev. Richard Downey, Archbishop of Liverpool. Another 20,000 were turned away, but cathedrals and churches were kept open for them to attend prayers during the meeting.

The archbishop, flanked by 15 crimson-coated bishops and archbishops of the Catholic order, delivered his protest against the trial before a gigantic photograph of the Cardinal.

Cardinal Mindszenty which dominated the hall.

He declared the Cardinal's acts "would not be regarded as criminal in any unbiased court," and urged British Catholics to voice their protest.

Sir Patrick Hannan, a member of parliament, read a foreign office statement given him earlier in the day by foreign secretary Ernest Bevin. The statement expressed "profound indignation" and condemned Hungary for the arrest and trial of the Cardinal.

The statement was received with applause inside and outside the hall. Many were moved to tears as they prayed with bowed heads for the Cardinal.

The two big front claws of the lobster are different. The left one, bigger and heavier, is the grinder and is thick and blunt. The right or cutting claw is slender and tapers to a point.

Newsmen Protest

FRANKFURT, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Ten German editorial staff members have resigned within the last 24 hours from the United States Military Government newspaper Die Neue Zeitung, in an argument over what the paper's official attitude towards the German reading public should be. Two Wildcats At Lac La Biche

By Don Flach

Two new wildcat wells are to be drilled in the Lac La Biche area according to word being circulated in Edmonton Tuesday morning. One of the operations is projected for the Owl River area on the north side of Lac La Biche and the position of the second is still undisclosed.

Location of the Owl River well, to be drilled by the Central Leduc Oils Limited, was made Friday, and machinery is to be moved in shortly.

Machinery for the second well to be drilled by the T. T. Eson outfit was being moved into the location during the last several days.

OIL FIND RUMORED

Interesting, though still unconfirmed report making the rounds in Edmonton Tuesday cooncerned Redwater Petroleum No. 1 well being drilled one mile west of Bruderheim. Traced to Toronto sources the report was to the effect that an oil strike had been made.

Latest confirmed reports about the well have it drilling at 3,870 feet in grey-tan lime below the green shale. D3 zone, from which production was obtained in the Redwater field, about ten miles north, has not shown.

ALSO NEAR BRUDERHEIM

Meanwhile Northern Development drillers are preparing for North Continental No. 1 to be drilled immediately north of Bruderheim townsite.

Drilling 18 miles south of Calgary and four miles west of the Turner Valley field, Anglo-Black Diamond No. 1, now at 9,125 feet is continuing in search of the lower porous zone of the Madison limestone. The upper zone held encouragement in that it held no formation water. Latest test failed to indicate commercial oil or gas.

NEW LEDUC TEST

First well of B.C. Recoveries has been spudded on lsd 16 of 31-49-26w4, more than a mile southwest of the proven limits of the Leduc Calmar No. 1 at 5,125 feet.

Two more Leduc completions have been put on steady production. No. 117 completed at 5,370 feet after treatment with 500 gallons of acid, shows at D3 initial potential of 2,154 barrels daily. No. 153 in southwest section of field completed in D2 at 5,220 feet with initial potential of 612 barrels per day. On west side of field No. 151 has assured D2 success; however it is being continued to the D3 for completion.

MYSTERY STORY

Nobody Wants $4,280,000 In Bank Balances

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Parliament received its annual million-dollar mystery story today, hundreds of pages thick.

It was the yearly report of unclaimed bank balances, tabled in the commons by James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott.

It contained a story with ten thousand threads, compounding themselves into a total of $4,280,000 which nobody seems to want. Of that sum $1,388,000 still is held by branches of various banks across the country, the other $2,892,000 by the Bank of Canada because the chartered banks have held it longer than 10 years.

Entries include the $179.80 forgotten by the war savings limerick contest in a Vancouver bank since 1941.

There are thousands of entries involving individual Canadians such as Mrs. Mary R. Bowman who left $942 in an Edmonton bank in 1942 and has never shown up since. But most of them are for sums far less than that.

CANADIAN DOLLAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. — (CP) — The Canadian dollar was unchanged at a discount of 7½ per cent in terms of United States funds in mid-day foreign exchange dealings today. The pound sterling was unchanged at 4.03¼.

Industrials Slip Paced by Steels

South Africa News Helps Golds; West Oils Dip In Late Trading

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Industrials slid downwards on losses ranging from fractions to about two points on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Golds held steady following news that South Africa sold some gold at a premium price and western oils dipped from early firmness. Base metals moved narrowly on a slightly easier tone. Volume was about 900,000 shares.

Steels led the declines in the industrial groupings as almost all issues trading showed losses. Papers dipped lower and refining oils lost fractions. Winnipeg Electric was strong in mixed utilities list and a few banks tightened.

Seniors were quiet in golds and junior producers showed little change. Trading was dull as Chesterville, Donalda, Giant Yellowqnife and Sylvanite dipped pennies.

Base metals opened on a stronger note but tended lower under mild selling pressure. Waite Amulet lost an early gain and International Nickel dipped a fraction. Torbrit Silver, Reeves Macdonald and Pend Oreille firmed.

Foothills, Okalta, Pacific Petroleum and Calgary and Edmonton showed losses in western oils. Central Leduc chalked up a small gain.

NEW YORK STOCKS HOLD FAIRLY WELL

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The stock market held its ground today in the face of a fresh break on commodity exchanges.

Key issues swung back and forth in a narrow price range. Upward tendencies appeared off and on but none had enough drive to get anywhere.

Trading slowed from Monday's comparatively rapid pace although it was still substantial. Volume for the full session ran close to 1,000,000 shares.

The financial district considered the stability of the market impressive in view of sagging commodity prices. Many traders, it was said, are being forced to sell stocks in order to raise funds to maintain their position in commodity deals.

General Motors rallied smartly from an opening loss of 1½ points, which followed news late yesterday that the company's board had voted a dividend of $1.25 a share.

Canadian issues were higher. McIntyre regained a loss of one point from yesterday. Distillers Seagrams was up ¼, Dome Mines added ⅛, Hiram Walker dropped ¼ and Canadian Pacific eased ⅛.

On the curb, Lake Shore eased ⅛.

Penalties Not Means Of Ending Strikes

CALGARY, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Strikes cannot be ended by penalizing members of labor unions and jailing union leaders, or by declaring strikes illegal and passing a "splurge" of anti-labor legislation, Hon. Dr. John L. Robinson, Alberta minister of industries and labor, told the annual meeting of the Calgary branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here Monday evening.

Essential for the maintenance of good labor-management relations were co-operation between management and their employes, sound and fair labor legislation, and the speedy and impartial settlement of labor disputes.

Other speakers were G. E. Carpenter of Winnipeg, manager of the Prairie division, CMA; Tom Ashenhurst of Edmonton, manager of the Alberta branch; and D. Harry Young, of Winnipeg, assistant manager of the Prairie division.

C. A. Loest, general manager of Union Packing Co. Limited, was elected chairman of the Calgary branch, succeeding G. T. Valentine. Walter Bruce was elected vice-chairman. F. C. Manning, Jr., was elected honorary secretary.

Elected to the Calgary branch executive committee were: L. W. Caldwell, R. S. Trowsdale, E. E. Peterson, Mr. Valentine, C. F. Woodward, F. E. Maxie, M. T. Stevens, John J. Tynan, Cyril Standen, L. H. Johnson, Reginal Bessell, R. L. Cushing and J. J. Hanna.

Board Lops 9 Cents Off Grade 2 Wheat

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Reflecting drastic declines on the Chicago market, the Canadian Wheat Board price for class two wheat—for export to countries other than the United Kingdom—was reduced by nine cents today. This marked a new low level for class two wheat.

The feature of the coarse grain futures market on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange was that prices showed very stubborn resistance to big price breaks recorded on the Chicago market.

While there was some expansion in selling in oats and barley, which saw American sales, good support from shippers appeared in oats and processors and shippers gave fair support to barley. There also was fair demand from other interests.

In contrast to active trading at Chicago the Winnipeg session was dull for the most part with the usual expansion in activity at the close.

Winnipeg rye was affected more than any other grains by the Chicago weakness but was well above the 10-cent maximum loss allowed for the day.

Winnipeg rye was down 8 to 8¾ cents whereas Chicago rye went down 10 cents and stayed there. For most of the session Winnipeg rye held to moderate declines of five to six cents.

Today saw new seasonal lows registered across the board on all coarse grains on the Winnipeg exchange.

The United Kingdom was allocated 400,000 bushels of wheat under Anglo-Canadian export business.

Mickey Rooney Now 28 And Still Wont Grow Up

By Aline Mosby

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—Sam Stiefel, Mickey Rooney's business partner, wishes Mickey would grow up. He's tired of bringing up Rooney.

Sam says he's been like a papa to the cigar-puffing dynamo. And what does Sam get? Mickey got sore at his fatherly advice and last week hired a lawyer to bust their movie-producing company, Rooney-Stiefel Inc.

LAST STRAW

That was the last straw, sighs Sam.

"We've been like father and son, but no more," says Stiefel, sitting all alone in the massive offices of Rooney-Stiefel Inc. "From now on it's strictly business when he comes back to work, and I think he will.

"This foolishness has got to stop. Mickey has to grow up. It'll take a couple of years. He won't get any more bawling from me."

Right now, says Sam, Mickey is home pouting. He won't talk to the press. The gossips say Mickey blew up when Sam didn't want him to buy a $4,000 ring for his current flame, Martha Vickers. Sam just says he nixed a "deal" that Rooney suggested.

"He says I can't tell him what to do. he's 28 years old now. Twenty-eight," snorts Sam. "I'm 51. I've been in show business since I was 11, running theatres in the east."

NO FOR FIVE YEARS

Sam tied up with Rooney five years ago and has been saying "no" to the pint-sized actor ever since. Mickey hauls in job-hunters, movie scripts and money-making ideas like a moppet drags home stray dogs. One guy Mickey met in the army and promised a job sued when he got brushed off later. That cost Rooney $4,000.

"I love Mickey; he's a fine kid," shrugs Sam. "But he has a big heart and he talks too much.

"Mickey thinks everybody he meets is his friend. I told him he should realize the world could turn its back on Mickey Rooney. When you don't have dough, they forget fast.

"Those leeches that hang around his house . . . we've given jobs to a couple, the nice ones, but I had to tell him to clear them out."

NEEDS ANOTHER WIFE

Mickey's latest wife, Betty Jane, told him that, too, when she divorced him. She testified their house was so full of his pals she could hardly find Mickey. Rooney needs a sensible wife, maybe Miss Vickers, Stiefel added.

"He also has to learn the value of a dollar, to realize his business responsibilities. He won't always be a star. Once I introduced him to King Baggett, an old-time star playing bits at Metro.

Sam doubts if the lecture sank in. Later Mickey bought a $30,000 airplane without asking Sam. Then he loaned it to a pal who cracked up in it.

"I don't blame him, I forgive him," said Stiefel. "I hope he never gets a hard knock, but I wish he'd had one when he was young. He'd be different now.

BRIDGE

Remembering Rules Is Always Helpful

It is sometimes surprising how little we know of the background of our associates. Bridge players often play in tournaments from three days to a week, and seldom do I find one who knows anything about the others' business.

For example, Mrs. Ralph H. Schellenberg, with Harry J. Fishbein, has for years operated one of the largest bridge clubs in the United States, the Mayfair Bridge Club of New York City. Only recently I learned that she formerly was in the theatre, and that at one time she was a customer's woman in Wall Street.

Mrs. Schellenberg

Opening—♠ 6

Her biggest asset is her memory for hands. The late Heywood Broun found her memory invaluable when she served as his secretary. While Fishbein is the bridge star of the Mayfair, Mrs. Schellenberg's memory for plays is so good that she often plays a hand with all of the skill of the finest experts. Today's hand is an example.

Mrs. Schellenberg (South) played low on the opening lead of the six of spades, but won the second spade lead with the ace. Now the average player might lay down the ten of diamonds and take the finesse. East would win and return a spade. Now declarer would have only five diamond tricks, a club trick and two spades.

Declarer must establish either the clubs or the hearts for the ninth trick. Mrs. Schellenberg remembered that one of her first lessons from the maestro was, count your tricks, so instead of playing the diamond, she laid down the king of hearts.

West won and led back another spade which declarer won with the king. Now she took the diamond finesse and East had no more spades to return—so Mrs. Schellenberg made four-odd.

Consort Trade Board Re-Elects H. Kroeger

CONSORT, Feb. 8.—At the annual meeting of the Consort Board of Trade Henry Kroeger was re-elected president for the third consecutive year. J. N. Donaldson, who has been acting secretary for several months was elected secretary-treasurer and the committees as last year were returned.

H. Kroeger reported for the delegation who had gone to Edmonton to interview Hon. D. A. MacMillan and Hon. C. E. Gerhart, the local member and request the completion of No. 12 highway from Monitor to Consort be hastened. He stated Mr. MacMillan had assured them that this section would be completed in 1949. A vote of thanks was moved by the meeting to the members of the delegation and to Mr. N. Hunter of Consort who provided his car to drive the party to Edmonton.

Discussion at the meeting also disclosed that the majority of members approved of continued action on this proposed north-south highway connecting Elk Point and Medicine Hat. It was decided that the best line of action would be to endeavor to have a high grade constructed from Consort north to Czar this year.

Just before the meeting adjourned Mayor Isaman stated that some residents of the village have been urging the council to install a sewage disposal system in Consort. This, he said, would be discussed fully at the annual ratepayers meeting to be held Feb. 14, and he only mentioned it at this time to give people time to discuss it and think about it.
